Six-Point Viet Nam Peace Plan Offered

COMBINED AP & UPI

MANILA — President Johnson and six Pacific allies today put forth a South Viet Nam peace plan pledging withdrawal of all foreign forces within six months after the Communists begin pulling out of the war.

The chiefs of the seven nations issued a Manila manifesto setting forth a six-point plan to end the bloody fighting but it hinged on North Viet Nam getting out of the South, ending infiltration and "lowering the level of violence"—presumably a reference to the Viet Cong.

The Asian summit conference ended with signing of the official communique and two other documents setting forth goals for "Peace and Progress in Asia."

Johnson and the national leaders of South Viet Nam. The Philippines, Thailand, South Korea, Australia and New Zealand emphasized that peace arrangements and subsequent allied withdrawals would depend on "effective international guarantees" and supervision to insure that the Communists live up to their end of any deal.

There was no immediate reaction to the peace plan from North Viet Nam or Red China.

The six points were:

1. "Cessation of aggression." The allies said South Viet Nam asked only that externally supported terror and aggression be halted and that "no self respecting people can ask less."

2. "Preservation of the territorial integrity of South Viet Nam." Johnson and the other leaders said the South Vietnamese sought only to defend their own territory and "while sympathizing with the plight of their brothers in the North ...have no desire to threaten or harm the people in the North or invade their country."

3. "Reunification of Viet Nam." The "regrettable" partition of Viet Nam at the 1954 Geneva conference "will be respected until, by free choice of all Vietnamese, reunification is achieved.

4. "Resolution of internal problems." The South Vietnamese, once aggression has ended, will move toward reconciliation of all elements in the country, presumably including the Viet Cong. Local and national elections will be held within six months after the completion of the new constitution.

5. "Removal of allied military forces." This was the section dealing with the terms for eventual withdrawal, and calling for exchange of prisoners and observance of Red Cross conventions.

6. "Effective guarantees." Declaring that the South Vietnamese had learned from experience, the communique said they would "insist that any negotiations leading to the end of hostilities incorporate effective international guarantees."

The seven nations agreed there should be "regular meetings among their ambassadors in Saigon in association

Marine's Shirt Found Near House

A web of circumstantial evidence against Robert D. Sidbeck, 18-year-old suspect in the slaying of a Marin County dairy farm couple, was revealed today with release of grand jury testimony which resulted in his indictment for murder.

Witnesses testified:

1. A Marine Corps sweatshirt bearing the stenciled name "Sidbeck, B." was found in a creekbed near the San Antonio Road home of the victims, Mr. and Mrs. Everett F. Zimmerman, the morning the killings were discovered.

2. Fred H. Wynbrandt, a State Criminal Identification and Investigation office expert, said stains on trousers Sidbeck allegedly wore the day after the slaying were type O blood, the same as that found on sheets on the Zimmerman's bed when their bodies were discovered. He also said the grease marks on the trousers were from a bicycle chain identical in measurement to that of a 10-speed racing bike found in the trunk of the Zimmerman's stolen car, which was abandoned in San Francisco.

3. William Harold Hiber, 16, of 189 The Alameda, San Anselmo, testified his bike, identified as the one found in the car, disappeared Aug. 28 about the same time that Sidbeck left the area.

4. Mrs. Ruby White of 404 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, Sidbeck's sister, said Sidbeck placed what he told her was an envelope containing a bus ticket to Memphis, Tenn., and $110 in traveler's checks on her television set on Aug. 7. He later reported the envelope missing and that he needed money to reach his Marine base in Memphis, she said.

5. Dr. John Zimmerman, veterinarian and son of the slain couple, testified both his mother's purse and his father's wallet were missing when their bodies were discovered. He said his father always kept the wallet in a desk and usually had about $100 in it.

6. Michael Cox related that Sidbeck returned to the Cox home Aug. 30, appeared sick, changed the stained pants for another pair, and transferred a black wallet to the clean pants.

7. A San Francisco police traffic officer, George Christensen, testified he found the Zimmerman car, containing the bicycle, in San Francisco and notified homicide officers.

Sidbeck, a former employee and friend of the Zimmermans, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Superior Court on the indictment. He is to enter plea next Monday.

He is being held without bail in county jail.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman were slain as they lay in bed on the night of Aug. 29-30.

Brown Challenges Reagan Over State's Prosperity

Murphy Claims GOP Will Win By 500,000

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican Ronald Reagan will win the California governorship by more than 500,000 votes and the GOP will pick up seven Senate seats across the nation, U.S. Sen. George Murphy, R - Calif., and Robert Finch, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, said today.

Murphy joined Finch at a news conference to launch a three-day campaign tour. The senator spoke hoarsely aided by an amplifier. He recently underwent a throat operation.

"I am here with Bob Finch, the only visible candidate for lieutenant governor, to initiate a search for Bob's opponent, the incumbent lieutenant governor," Murphy said. He referred to Democrat Glenn M. Anderson.

Murphy said Anderson gets to the State Capitol in the morning, "picks up his gavel and turns it over to someone else. He showed up late at Watts."

"I think if the polls are at all accurate, it's clear that Reagan will win by an excess of one-half million votes," Finch said. But he added that he and other Republican candidates on the ticket would have more trouble.

"The difficulty has been to get some clash of ideas with

MYSTERIOUS SMOG HIDES MARIN HILLS

Smog hung over Marin County today but the Bay Area Air Pollution Control office was unable to determine the cause.

Robert McCabe, of Mount Tamalpais, said the inversion layer extended to a height of 2,400 feet and covered Marin County.

No fire was reported that might have added to the layer of smog.

Grader Breaks Gas Pipeline

Novato city street cleaning crew had a few anxious moments this morning when a grader cleaning a ditch on DeLong Avenue broke the gas service pipe to 827 DeLong, opposite the Novato city hall.

Governor Says He'd Welcome Visit By LBJ

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown charged opponent Ronald Reagan today "with a falsity" when Reagan claims the California economy is cracking and sagging.

Brown, in a televised news conference, said the economy is growing in every important sector "and my opponent is attempting to deceive people when he says otherwise." (See story on page two.)

On other subjects, Brown said:

He thinks it would be "great" if President Johnson visits California the weekend before the election to emphasize the federal-state partnership. Brown said such a visit might help give him the boost he needs to help overcome Reagan's lead.

He would do whatever he could to prevent Sacramento County Assessor Irene Hickman from quadrupling property tax assessments to full cash value.

And he would again ask abolition of capital punishment "if we can't get faster action from the courts."

Brown said the news conference was the first in a series he would hold in which he intends to confront Reagan with basic areas of conflict between him and the Republican candi-

Viet Troops Liberate 18 Chained Prisoners

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops moved into the Mekong Delta in their biggest campaign of the war and in the first few hours liberated 18 men and women chained together and stuffed into a cave by the Communists, a government spokesman said today.

One of the half-starved women was a Roman Catholic nun who walked limping into the sunlight and prayed when government troops unchained her.

A government spokesman said all the captives—13 men and 5 women—were badly treated and in a "state of undernourishment." Their captors fled before the government advance.

The government forces moved in yesterday following disastrous floods in the delta that threatened trouble and an outbreak of Communist terrorism.

The floods cost the delta, Southeast Asia's greatest rice bowl, an officially estimated 200,000 tons of rice and threatened political unrest in the Communist-infested area.

Thousands of government troops were involved in the big offensive but there were no exact figures.

The spokesman who called Operation Long Phu the biggest of the war, said it began last night and that in the first hour the troops killed 12 Viet Cong, seized large supplies of arms, ammunition and food and freed the prisoners.

The size of the operation came as a surprise. There had been widespread speculation Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. Military commander in Viet Nam, had wanted government forces only to deal with pacifying and securing areas after U.S. troops and their allies had beaten back main force Communist units.

Action in the rest of the war slowed to a lull and monsoon weather held U.S. air raid missions over Viet Nam Monday to 21, was only sporadic ground action.

Sheppard Jury Still Not Picked

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Four housewives were dismissed as potential jurors in the Sheppard murder trial today, and the defense renewed its "challenge to the array of veniremen in Cleveland" where it contends it is impossible for the defendant to get a fair trial.

"Let the record so show," Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Talty replied to the renewed challenge by chief defense counsel F. Lee Bailey.

The court was in its second day of trying to find whether a fair and impartial jury can be picked in the sensational and highly publicized case of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, who was convicted here of bludgeoning his pregnant wife to death in 1954.

Sukarno Aide Death Slated For Treason

JAKARTA (UPI)—A military court found former foreign Minister Subandrio guilty of treason in helping the Communists try to overthrow the government today and sentenced him to death.

The verdict capped a four-hours long verdict session in which each of the five judges on the nine-member tribunal gave their opinions and discussed the reasons behind it. One by one they came forward with the verdict expected since the trial began: guilty.

The bespectacled, soft-spoken former diplomat and heir apparent to President Sukarno stood before the court as the sentence was passed.

One judge said that instead of taking appropriate action to head off the Communist coup, Subandrio went about the country making "agitating speeches."

The judge said Subandrio, as head of Indonesia's intelligence, knew of the military training being given to the Communists at their secret training grounds just prior to the attempted coup and did nothing about it.

Guideline Growing

CHICAGO (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said today that the increase in the productivity of workers in the United States — the output per man hour — has risen to 3.8 per cent.

Supervisors Like Police Merger

Marin County supervisors today agreed that county-wide police department would be a good idea, but they want to hear from "everybody involved" before making an offer to the cities on police unification.

The board discussed a proposal by Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows, that city police departments be consolidated with the county sheriff's department to provide greater tax equity for city property owners, now paying for both the sheriff department and their own police forces.

Barrows said this appeared "a more attractive alternative" than an earlier sugestion for a county services area for police in unincorporated areas.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen called it "an excellent idea" but asked for further study. He agreed with Supervisor William A. Gnoss that opinions from cities should be sought and consideration given to opinion from the public.

Kettenhofen said it was not intended to "close the door" on the earlier suggested county services area, that the two proposals should go forward together.

He said a vote by the people on the suggestions "would be most ideal."

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos spoke strongly in favor of the unified department, and said it would be particularly helpful in narcotic investigation and work with juveniles.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, acting as chairman in the absence of Byron W. Leydecker, who left due to illness earlier in the day, set Dec. 1 for a further report.

Anti-Johnson Aussies Charged

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Two men were charged in City Court today with offensive behavior and resisting arrest while demonstrating during President Johnson's visit last week.

Desmond John Files, 23, of suburban Northcote was fined $11 on each count.

Magistrate C.E. Elvish postponed the charge of offensive behavior against the second man, Robert Allen Hopkins, 26, until next May and put him under a $22 good-behavior bond.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

CHICAGO (UPI) — Amid reports psychiatrists have found him mentally competent to stand trial, accused mass killer Richard Speck yesterday was granted a 10-day continuance of his pre-trial sanity hearing.

Speck

A panel of six doctors had been ordered by Judge Herbert C. Paschen to report on Speck's mental state. Paschen gave them an extention until Nov. 4 after Speck's lawyer said the medical examination was not complete.

Paschen called the newspaper report that Speck has already been found sane "a little premature."

Speck is charged with the July 14 murder of eight student nurses in their South Side townhouse dormitory. Yesterday's appearance was his fourth since he was arrested July 17.

The psychiatrists were assigned by Paschen to determine whether Speck was sane at the time the nurses were killed and whether he is mentally competent to stand trial now.

California Senators Stump Opposite Sides Of Nation

Murphy Boosts Finch; Kuchel In New Jersey

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

California's two Republican U.S. Senators were campaigning hard today for GOP colleagues — but in different ends of the nation.

While Sen. George Murphy hit the trail to boost lieutenant governor hopeful Robert Finch, New Jersey Republicans were getting the benefit of U.S. Sen. Thomas Kuchel's campaign efforts.

NOT FOR REAGAN

Kuchel, senior senator from California, told newsmen in Newark, N.J., he plans to return to his home state later to help out GOP candidates for Congress.

Kuchel said he would not stump the state for Ronald Reagan, his party's candidate for governor, once more pointing up the deep rift between the two.

Kuchel has demanded that Reagan repudiate the John Birch Society. Reagan has refused, saying it's not a candidate's responsibility to read any segment of voters out of the party.

KUCHEL ANGERED

Reagan angered Kuchel earlier in the year when he refused to pledge his support for the senator in the 1968 primary, when Kuchel's current term expires. It didn't appear to appease Kuchel later when Reagan said he only meant he wouldn't support any primary candidates, believing the party rank and file should choose nominees.

Although Murphy's three-day tour of the state with Finch didn't open officially until today in Sacramento, the junior senator from California got started early with a blast against another fellow senator.

Murphy called U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., a "carpetbagger" and said Kennedy's efforts last weekend in Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown's behalf would ire the political friends of Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty.

Kennedy and Yorty clashed sharply earlier this year when the mayor testified in Washington before a Senate committee.

Murphy said Brown "has apparently decided to abandon his romance with Mayor Yorty in favor of the visitor from the East, unquestionably alienating more than a million Democrats who voted for Mayor Yorty in the Democratic primary."

Both Brown and Reagan have wooed Yorty, to date unsuccessfully. The mayor has yet to endorse either, although he has criticized Brown on various issues.

Reagan scheduled two midday luncheon appearances today in Los Angeles, then was to attend an evening rally in Santa Monica. Brown planned a televised news conference in Sacramento, then was scheduled to campaign in Bakersfield.

Elsewhere there were these campaign developments:

LIFE Magazine endorsed Brown, calling his record "a remarkably good one."

Television station KNXT in Los Angeles endorsed Reagan, saying he would "bring to the office a fresh direction and a new thrust to the state leadership in Sacramento." The station immediately offered equal time to Brown to reply, as required by federal regulations.

Brown's handling of the recent rioting in San Francisco won praise from William A. Hydie, president of the California Peace Officers' Assn. "There is no doubt that the prompt responses and the coordination of forces averted greater tragedy," said Hydie, who is Palo Alto police chief.

And Mrs. Edmund G. Brown spent yesterday campaigning for her husband, making stops in Marysville, Chico and Red Bluff before joining the governor for an evening telethon in Redding.

Los Angeles Council Kills Water Fluoridation Plan

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fluoridation of the water supply has been rejected by the Los Angeles City Council.

After six hours' debate yesterday, city councilmen rejected two proposals to fluoridate the supply.

By a 9-6 vote, they rejected a proposal to bring all of the city's supply to a fluoride level of .6 part per million—already naturally present in San Fernando Valley water.

Earlier they rejected 8-7 a proposal for a .9 part per million level suggested by state and federal health officials.

Another proposal—to let voters decide the matter—lost 9-5.

Dr. V. L. Diefenback, assistant U.S. surgeon general, had told councilmen that 300,000 to 800,000 Los Angeles children have cavities which might have been prevented by fluoridation.

Work Starts Soon On Thai Airfield

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Construction will begin soon on an American-financed airfield for the Thai air force with a 9,000-foot runway at Nakorn Pathom, 35 miles west of Bangkok, it was reported today.

It will be the air force's new flying training center. The present training center is being moved from Korat, 125 miles northeast of Bangkok, to ease the traffic load there.

Britain Due To Call For Atom Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain was expected to add its voice today to the swelling U.N. chorus for speedy agreement on a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

Lord Chalfont, Britain's disarmament specialist, was to spell out his government's views in the disarmament debate before the General Assembly's main Political Committee.

SIGNING SEEN

British quarters have expressed belief that the proposed treaty, now deadlocked by U.S.-Soviet differences, will be signed late next year. They believe it is possible agreement may come before the assembly convenes again next September.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union declared at the outset of the U.N. arms debate last week that prospects for agreement on a treaty were improved. Both warned, however, that differences remained.

Main stumbling block has been the role West Germany would play in the nuclear defense of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

GERMAN ISSUE

The Russians contend that West Germany would get its hands on nuclear hardware as part of a multilateral nuclear force—MLF—proposed by the West, but Western officials at the United Nations have expressed the belief that the MLF idea is about to be quietly abandoned.

Britain has been working on a new treaty proposal which would say only what countries could not do and eliminate any complicated provisions about what they could do, such as forming an MLF.

BROWN STRESSES STATE PROSPERITY

Governor Says He Was Helping State While Reagan Was Making Funny Films

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has declared that California's employment, wages and corporate profits are the highest in the state's history.

Brown, who returned to Sacramento late last night, said earlier in a speech to Hughes Aircraft Co. employes at Culver City that his opponent's assertions are wrong on those matters and "in the last two weeks of this campaign I want to set the record straight."

The Democratic governor said, "I can hardly recognize the California of my opponent Republican Ronald Reagan. He tells us everything is wrong and he can save us."

Brown said, "In the past year our economy has produced more than 327,000 new jobs. We are able to do this because California attracts more new industries and payrolls than any other state.

"We continue to receive more defense contracts . . . than any other state in America' because "we do a good selling job in Washington."

Brown said actor Reagan is inexperienced in government and "wants to start out as boss without one day in the back shop."

"Would you entrust your vote," Brown asked, "to a man who has no job training at all?"

The governor said, "While he (Reagan) was making 'Bedtime for Bonzo,' I was working on the state's education system. My opponent wants tuitions in our universities and state colleges. I will use all the powers of government to see there is no tuition."

Pentagon Will Retain Special Reserve Units

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans to maintain the nation's Selected Reserve Force in a high state of readiness at least until mid-1967 as a hedge against any required mobilization.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, head of the National Guard Bureau, disclosed this today in assessing the progress of the 150,000-man force, organized a year ago as a first-line backup for the regular Army.

"The results have been fantastic," Wilson said, pointing out that 86 per cent of 423 SRF units tested during the summer passed regular Army battalion-level examinations. Sixty which flunked are being retested.

"This is quite good for part-timers," he said.

The National Guard forms the bulk of the Selected Reserve Force with 131,000 men, compared with the Reserve's 19,000.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara set up the Selected Reserve Force a year ago during the Viet Nam build-up as an alternative to ordering to active duty Army Reserve or National Guard units.

At the time, some regular Army divisions in the United States were being stripped of resources and converted to training outfits, providing men for the war.

How Congressmen Voted On Key Bills

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., voted for the compromise Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act of 1966 approved 38-22 and against a bill suspending investment tax credits as an anti-inflation measure (approved 38-19).

Sen. George L. Murphy, R-Calif., did not vote on either measure.

In the House, Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, Calif., voted as follows:

For a resolution, adopted 255-0, providing for creation of a committee on ethics to police conduct of House members.

Against the compromise Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act of 1966, which was passed 142-126.

Woman Leaps From Window To Death

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mrs. Mary Balistreri, 30, jumped to her death yesterday from the fourth floor window of a downtown department store.

Witnesses told police Mrs. Balistreri stood for a moment on the ledge, looked down at afternoon shoppers below and then jumped. Her body came to rest on the street.

Furnishings Stolen

Bert Harland Berry of 1428 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, complained to San Rafael police yesterday that someone took bedding, an ironing board and sterling silverware, all worth $78, from an upstairs apartment at that address Friday.

NEVER CAN BE TOO CAREFUL THESE DAYS

MALDEN, Mass. (AP)—An alert driver for the Armored Car Service of Lunnfield noticed he was being tailed by an automobile and notified police.

Police, anxious because of a series of Greater Boston armored car holdups, stopped the car yesterday and questioned the driver.

He was a private detective hired by the company to follow its armored cars, police said.

Teacher To Start Lessons In German

Beginning German will be offered to Marin children next month on a private lesson basis by Mrs. Martha Bruckner of Ross, a College of Marin language instructor.

There are no requirements for beginners, she said, and more advanced children will form their own groups.

Mill Valley Planners Defer Foster Home Permit Action

Mill Valley Planning Commissoin last night deferred to Nov. 15 action on a request for a permit to operate a foster home for up to six children at 259 Miller Avenue because the applicant, Children's Garden of San Francisco, failed to appear.

Commissioners agreed use of the house, owned by Sigmund Eisner, as a foster home would not be contrary to uses allowed in the single-famly district, planning director Harvey E. Bragdon said.

The commission approved the first increment of the Cochran-Hernandez development on Edgewood Avenue. Commissioners stipulated that 5.1 acres of the 11.26-acre development must be an open area easement to the city.

In a report on preservation of open spaces in master plans for developments, city Atty. Leland H. Jordan said open spaces could be insured through dedications, homeowners associations, zoning and easements.

As a preface to a joint meeting Nov. 14 with the county planning commission, commissioners set a noon field trip for Nov. 13 to the area south of the city in a review of proposals for realignment of Shoreline Highway and Miller Avenue, Tamalpais Junction, Richardson Bay and future limits of the city.

Because of the joint meeting, the commissioners set their next the commissioners sett heir next regular meeting for Nov. 15.

Upton Cites Need Of ABAG Checks

Dr. William F. Upton, Marin County representative on the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, told Marin County supervisors today that some form of regional government will ultimately be needed to protect the bay.

Upton, making a report on the commission functions and responsibilities, said the regional government could be along the lines of that recommended by the goals and objectives committee of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments, but that it should have elected rather than appointed control.

Upton pointed out the commission on which he serves has a study role now and is to recommend some form of government to control the bay as part of its final report in 1969.

Supervisors were to get into a full study of the ABAG proposal this morning and some of the correspondence on the subject was read.

Novato City Councilman William Jack Adams said in a letter that he would prefer a 15-member governing body with three elected from five areas of near equal population.

Mrs. H. J. Compton, president of the League of Woman Voters of Central Marin, said the ABAG proposal had some fault but the Marin board should back the idea rather than let it die because of the faults.

Gerome B. Gilbert, general manager of the North Marin County Water District and a member of the San Francisco Bay Water Quality Control Board, said water pollution is bigger than regional in scope and should not be a function-assigned regional government as proposed by supervisors to two weeks ago.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said he would like to know how the Novato City Council acts on the ABAG proposal tonight before he makes his decision. He wanted the discussion continued.

Chairman Byron W. Leydecker was forced to leave the meeting before the discussion began, because of illness. The board, hoping he would be back before the end of the day, help up further debate.

Volcano Erupts, Driving 1,700 Out Of Homes

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Mount Kelud, one of the most threatening volcanoes in populous East Java, has erupted again, driving an estimated 1,700 persons from their homes, Antara news agency reported today. It added that it was not determined if anyone was killed.

The agency did not give the exact date of the eruption but said streams of lava destroyed more than 200 houses and that several others were heavily damaged by rivers of mud from heavy rains Oct. 12-15.

It was Kelud's second major eruption this year. In April a volcanic explosion killed more than 100 persons and wiped out entire villages.

date. Today's conference opened with a statement on the state's economy.

Quoting sources outlining California's favorable economy, Brown challenged Reagan "to explain that away, especially his constant references to the Death Valley Days of California.

He challenged Reagan to reply to four questions. They were:

Whether he would propose curtailing the Economic Development Agency, how he would fill the gaps left by absence of federal-state programs Reagan dislikes and if he would continue tourist attraction programs and if he would favor or oppose the proposed State Department of Commerce.

my opponent," Finch said.

He and Murphy clashed genially over Prop. 16, the November ballot's anti-obscenity measure. Finch repeated his stand that the proposition was unconstitutional. The proposal would permit juries to rule on obscenity and would allow law enforcement officers to confiscate books and other materials.

Later, Murphy said he "favored a yes on the basis of intent" on Prop. 16.

Murphy said Republicans would probably pick up Senate seats in Illinois, Oregon, Michigan, Tennessee, New Hampshire, Montana and Oklahoma.

New Date Scheduled On Courthouse Plans

Poverty Board Apointees By Tomorrow

Five directors of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council appointed by the board of supervisors, will have to be replaced tomorrow when the council meets at 8 p.m. at St. Andrews United Presbyterian Church in Marin City.

Four of the appointees, Vera L. Schultz, Neil R. Brixon, E. Warren McGuire and Lee Wise, failed to meet guidelines established by the federal government.

A fifth, Rev. John O'Connor of Catholic Family Services, was reported to lack time to serve. He met clerical requirements.

COMPLETE BOARD

The council, a non-profit corporation established to direct the county's War on Poverty program, will not be able to choose its officers or get its programs under way until the board is complete.

The five to be replaced are among 12 appointed by the board of supervisors. Nine other members of the council are Marin City residents and members of the Marin City Target Area board.

Seven members appointed by the supervisors have been accepted for board membership.

SEVEN APPROVED

The seven approved and their categories are: Perry Howell of CORE, civil rights groups; George Scott of Painters Union Local 83, labor; Florence Scott, Marin Branch of Bay Area Social Planning Council, private welfare agencies; Donald O. Stutsman, directors of Marin County Housing Authority, public housing; Edward G. Younger, senior citizens groups; William Collins of College of Marin, educational system; Byron W. Leydecker, board of supervisors.

Categories to be filled must represent a church, the county health department, county social services department, and management, and must include an individual with a Spanish surname.

The nine members of the council from the Marin Target Area board are Mrs. Gene Beard, Mrs. Gussie Howard, Roger Jones, Leroy Elder, James Quiett, Arthur Brown, Gracie Stover, Mary Brown and Ellie Johnson.

When other target areas are named, all these areas will contribute a total of 18 members to the 30-member council. In the event two additional target areas are selected, the Marin City board will drop to six members.

Each target area board will have its own staff and be composed of residents of the area. The 30-member council will also have its staff and be centrally located in the county. At the present time, with only one area designated, the council meets in Marin City.

A $59,000 budget has been approved by the council for staffing the Marin City Target Area, and $70,000 to staff the council. These staffs, however, have not yet been selected.

A 10-year-old Terra Linda boy told Sheriff's deputies Sunday afternoon that a blue car with two or three teen-agers inside pulled alongside him in the 800 block of Del Ganado Road and one of the youths handed him a photograph of two nude men.

"Give this to your mother," they reportedly said.

The boy told deputies that several children in the area have been given similar photos recently. Deputies said they have no report of this.

Peace Plan Proffered By Manila Conference

with the government of the Republic of Viet Nam" to maintain the closest consultation.

The allies said they were determined to prevent Communist domination of South Viet Nam and would fight as long as necessary to prevent it.

But they added:

"Our purpose is peace—peace in South Viet Nam and in the rest of Asia and the Pacific...

"We are prepared to pursue any avenue which could lead to a secure and just peace whether through discussion and negotiation or through reciprocal actions by both sides to reduce the violence."

1. To be free from aggression.
2. To conquer hunger, illiteracy and disease.
3. To build a region at security, order and progress.
4. To seek reconciliation and peace throughout Asia and the Pacific.

Rumors—but only rumors—persisted in Manila that Johnson might stop in Viet Nam on his way to Thailand, the next scheduled stop on his 25,000 mile tour. If he should do so, it was anticipated he would visit Viet Nam and department before the announcement of a visit was made—as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower did in 1952 in Korea after his election.

The chiefs of the seven nations had met in closed session for seven hours before the signing ceremony.

After the signing ceremonies President Johnson decked himself out in an embroidered "Barong Tagalog" Filipino shirt with a kerchief around his neck and entered a world of simply fun and laughter tonight at a village fiesta on the Malacanang Palace grounds.

The President's shirt and Mrs. Johnson's gown were made of fine pineapple fibers and were gifts of Philippine President and Mrs. Ferdinand E. Marcos.

The sprawling grounds of the brilliantly lighted Presidential palace were converted into a barrio—Tagalog for rural village—with kapiz (pearl shell) lanterns and bunting.

It was the informal windup after two tense cdays of discussions on Viet Nam and Asian problems.

Military police took elaborate precautionary measures today on information that demonstrators would attempt another noisy riot denouncing President Johnson. But night fell and the demonstration failed to materialize.

A group of youngsters near the Manila Hotel compound, where the summit chiefs of government are staying, carried placards hailing the summit conference.

And in Kuala Lampur, Malaysia, Prime Minister Abdul Rahman warned Malaysian leftists today against staging anti-U. S. demonstrations when President Johnson arrives Sunday for a 21-hour visit.

The prime minister said such demonstrations, "even if they set out to be peaceful, may turn out to be violent."

Rahman denied that the government was contemplating a secret deal with Johnson to send Malaysian troops to Viet Nam.

The prime minister said the President "knows of our commitments and our security problems and we have no troops to spare."

Deputies Arrest Nudist Peepers

REDWOO DCIT Y(AP)—San Mateo County sheriff's deputies, who refuse to arrest nudists at San Gregorio beach, arrested 19 fully clothed persons who came to watch.

Deputies arrested the group, ranging in age from 18 to 58, on trespassing charges last weekend as they stood on a bluff overlooking the beach.

Court Asks Ban Of Genet Film

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The state District Court of Appeal has ruled unanimously yesterday that a film by French writer Jean Genet depicting homosexual acts in prison is "nothing more than hard-core pornography and should be banned."

In ruling on the film "Un Chant d'Amour," the court agreed with an earlier ruling in Alameda Superior Court.

The American Civil Liberties Union announced immediately that it would appeal the decision.

Body Identified As Boat Victim

The badly decomposed body of a man, found one mile northeast of Angel Island Sunday, was identified yesterday as that of Gill Williamson by the San Francisco coroner's office.

Williamson was one of seven persons on board the yacht Intrepid when it capsized off the island Oct. 10.

Two persons on the Intrepid, Williamson and Donald Heydt, both of San Francisco, were lost.

Identification of Williamson was made by his brother, Herbert. Heydt, whose body was found Wednesday off or Yerba Buena Island, was identified by Anthony Sebalo, one of the survivors of the sinking.

Trucker Drowns In Grease Pit

BAKERSFIELD (AP) — Kern County investigators have identified as Gene E. Paradee, 39, of Modesto, the man whose body was found Saturday in the grease pit below a south Bakersfield service station lubrication rack.

The identification was made from papers in the man's wallet found yesterday at the bottom of one foot of oil and water in the pit.

Speed Worries Drive Dwellers

"People are afraid to back out of their driveways onto Paradise Drive," councilman William R. Brember told Tiburon City Council last night.

He recommended the 35-mile speed limit be lowered to at least 25 miles per hour.

Bremer said his neighbors also want "yield" sign instead of a "stop" sign at Trestle Glen and Paradise Drive. Bremer, who lives at 120 Taylor Road off Paradise Drive, said he was not giving an opinion, but only "reporting how people out there feel."

Ross Psychiatric Center Cancels Plan

Ross Psychiatric Center has withdrawn plans for a rehabilitation center for 14 patients at 8 Toussin Street in Kentfield, the Marin County Planning Commission learned yesterday.

Use permit granted by the zoning administrator had been appealed by Lothar Steinberg and other neighbors. Hearing on the appeal was to be held before the commission yesterday, but the center cancelled its plans.

Lake County Man Injured In Accident

Thomas Wright Dickerson, 64, of Lake County, was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital after suffering a back sprain in an accident Sunday on the Corte Madera overpass.

California Highway Patrol reported Dickerson, driving north, changed lanes and his car was hit by one driven by Jerome Hayden Denney, 25, of 238 Merrydale Road, San Rafael Meadows. Deeney was treated for facial cuts at Marin General Hospital.

Marin Pair Aboard Sea Rescue Ship

A 22-year-old Mill Valley radarman, and a senior chief machinist's mate whose mother lives at Inverness are on board the Frank E. Evans, which recently assisted in two sea rescues in the Far East.

Theodore D. Anthony of 5 Bayview Terrace, Mill Valley, and Burnham Cantwell, son of Mrs. Richard M. Cantwell of Inverness, were in the crew of the destroyer when she went to the aid of a fishing craft from Taiwan adrift for two days because of engine failure. The fishing boat, with a crew of nine, was towed to safety.

Second rescue involved a downed pilot in the Gulf of Tonkin. He was taken aboard the Frank E. Evans — nicknamed "Lucky Evans"—minutes after the search had begun.

Anthony, who attended Tamalpais High School, has served four years in the Navy and expected to be discharged at the end of the year. Cantwell, now married with a wife and family in San Pedro, lived for a time in Marin County after World War II.

Chided Pilot Gets Chance To Control Giant Bomber

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, (AP) — An officer who was reprimanded after the crash of a giant XB-70A bomber June 8 is scheduled to be at the controls when its sister ship takes to the air next week.

He is Col. Joseph Cotton, XB-70A test force director, who has flown both planes many times. He was observing from a T-38 chase jet when the more successful of the two 2,000-mile-an-hour experimental craft and an F-104 chase jet collided on a commercial picture-taking flight, killing two men.

Chase planes again will be in the air when the remaining XB-70A flies Nov. 1, some of them taking pictures and some flying near its triangular wings —the position of the F-104 at the time of the collision.

One Air Force officer was assigned to other duties and Cotton and two others were reprimanded for approving the June 8 photographic mission, which Secretary of the Air Force Harold Brown said was of "questionable propriety." One of the goals of that flight was to provide commercial pictures of the XB-70A's huge engines for use by General Electric.

Primary goal of next week's flight will be to create a sonic boom over Edwards in order to measure the effects of shock waves generated by planes flying faster than sound.

Contract Review Set

Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce directors are to review a draft contract with Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Fields, Woodside color consultants, for a paint up, clean up campaign in commercial areas of the city at noon tomorrow at 26 Miller Avenue. The Fields have suggested minor revisions in the draft, a chamber spokesman said.

Black Power Conference Rules Set

BERKELEY (AP) — Ground rules have been established for a meeting on the University of California Berkeley campus Saturday at which Stokely Carmichael, "black power" advocate is to be a featured speaker.

Under terms of an agreement signed by a representative of the university and student sponsors, the advertised "educational conference" in the campus Greek Theater may be canceled if the university determines that good order may not be maintained or that other conditions have not been met.

The conference is to be limited to the hours of 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The agreement also provides:

That all planning, direction and control of the conference remain solely in the hands of students, faculty or staff members.

That no admission be charged.

That the sponsoring Students for a Democratic Society pay rental of the Greek Theater up to $600.

Supermarkets Heed Pickets, Trim Prices

Two Southwestern Chains Give In; Boycott Spreads

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Supermarket chains, frightened by the spectre of empty stores and picket lines of angry mothers, lowered prices today rather than buck the rising tide of boycotts against high food bills.

Housewives who have long tried to stretch a dollar while provisioning their homes have taken a cue from civil rights demonstrators and begun to level food prices into line.

The on-again, off-again efforts from the Atlantic to Pacific Oceans—begun a week ago in Denver—have started to pay dividends.

SAFEWAY CUTS

The list of supermarket chains that have knuckled under grew yesterday when Safeway announced cutbacks on "hundreds of items" at its 54 stores in New Mexico and west Texas.

Another Texas chain, Cashway, said it was cutting prices at its nine stores. Furr's closed its 70 stores yesterday and said it cut prices by as much as 15 per cent. Piggly Wiggly in the Southwest did the same.

Housewives who had organized little more than a bridge party earlier, were now involved in organizations with catchy names and only one purpose—lower weekly food bills. In Buffalo, N.Y., it is Women on the Warpath (WOW), Citizens Against Skyhigh Prices (CASP) in San Francisco, Housewives Against Rising Prices (HARP) in Jacksonville, Fla., and Shoppers against Deception (SAD) on New York's Long Island.

PICKET LINES

Sign-carrying housewives planned to picket five market chains in Philadelphia and nearby Bucks County for the second day today. The signs carried yesterday called for lower prices and elimination of giveaway gimmicks, despite contentions by some retailers the "gimmicks" helped lower prices by raising volume.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce William H. Shaw told delegates to the annual meeting of the National Assn. of Food Chains at Bal Harbour, Fla., the boycotts are "quite understandable" since food prices went up more than 5 per cent this year over last year.

Camera Stolen

A $160 Polaroid camera was stolen from the car of Arthur J. Pimentel while it was parked in front of his house, 264 Balcutha Avenue, Corte Madera, last night, according to Corte Madera police.

EXPLORING THE PAST—The first ladies of Australia, Mrs. Harold E. Holt, and the U.S., Lady Bird Johnson, unearth artifacts at an archaeological site near Punta Baya, in the Philippines. (UPI Cablephoto)

Lady Bird Digs For Buried Ancient Filipino Treasures

MANILA (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson visited an archeological excavation in Manila today and found it so interesting she made an unscheduled trip to another digging 60 miles away.

The American First Lady flew to Calatagan to look at sites of 14th century Ming discoveries after joining wives of the Manila conference leaders earlier on a tour of the Philippine capital that included a visit to an excavation at an old Spanish churchyard.

The first ladies went down into the dirt of a 10-foot archeological excavation amid the bones of men who lived here 12 centuries ago.

A cheering crowd of about 800 jammed the church area and as the first ladies left after a half-hour visit pushed in so tightly the visitors could hardly get through to their air-conditioned bus.

Land For Schools On Agenda

The Novato City Council will consider an ordinance requiring the dedication of land for schools at cost by large subdividers when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The ordinance would put into effect in Novato the Kirk law. This law was passed by the Legislature at the suggestion of William H. Kirk of Novato when he was a member of the Novato Unified School District board. The state act merely empowers local jurisdictions to make such a requirement.

Other items to come before the council include commuter parking on the Highway 37 interchange and the new garbage boxes being used by the Novato Disposal Service.

Miners Shed Tears For Slag Victim

ABERFAN, Wales (AP) —A tiny coffin with a single spray of red roses was carried through the rubble-strewn streets of Aberfan today. Miners stood with bowed heads, some openly weeping.

It was the first funeral of a child victim of the coal slag that swamped Aberfan's village school and a row of houses Friday with the feared loss of 200 lives, most of them children.

Rescue work was halted as the coffin containing the body of Randolph Tudor, 10, was taken from a white-washed miner's cottage and placed in a cortege of three cars headed by two police motorcycle outriders.

The village fell silent. Traffic was stopped.

In London, Buckingham Palace announced Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip will visit Aberfan on Saturday.

After the procession moved out of sight, rescue teams threw themselves back into the effort of clearing the devastation.

So far, 145 bodies have been recovered, nearly all children. Police said they believed another 46 children were dead beneath the mountain of black sludge.

Plans were made for a mass funeral of 60 children Thursday.

Battery Theft

Virginia Wilson, 16 Circle Way, Mill Valley, reported to police Saturday the theft of a battery worth $35 from her car Friday night, while the car was parked on Willow Street near Miller Avenue.

Lawmakers Rap State Teacher Control Body

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An Assembly subcommittee has sharply criticized the state Committee of Credentials, which last year censured a San Diego teacher for writing a play called "A Cat Named Jesus."

Chairman Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco, of the Assembly subcommittee on school personnel and teacher qualifications said yesterday, "We had not previously thought it unlawful—or even sufficient to render one unfit to teach—to write plays in one's spare time."

Ryan said as a result of the episode of Geri Turner Davis, the teacher who wrote the controversial one-act, and others, the staff of the Assembly Education Committee was asked to attend the credentials committee meetings.

An Assembly Education Committee concultant, Michael A. Manley, said it was found that the credentials committee has irregular membership, often acts slowly and inconsistently and sometimes calls teachers to Sacramento for hearings even when the committee knows it has no legal basis to rescind the teacher's credentials.

"In effect they just say, 'Go back and be a good girl,'" Manley said.

The subcommittee also took under consideration a list of staff recommendations for improving the curriculum committee. Included were two alternative methods for appointing the committee, both of which would shift the job from state Superintendent of Schools Max Rafferty to the state Board of Education.

Soul Solution Has $200,000 Prize Attached

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — About 18 days will be set aside next year in which to prove scientifically the existence of the human soul.

To the organization which can do this — and at least eight will try — the prize is more than $200,000.

The money was left by James Kidd, an Arizona miner who died in 1951. Kidd's will said his estate would go to any person or group furnishing "some scientific proof of a soul of the human body which leaves at death."

Attorneys believe the money also could be awarded anyone who is merely researching the existence of the soul.

Superior Court Judge Robert L. Myers said yesterday a hearing expected to last 18 days would begin next March 6.

Kidd, a bachelor, said in his will he had no heirs.

San Geronimo Valley Citizens Ask Highway 17 Be Short Cut To 101

By FRANK FARRARA

Residents of San Geronimo Valley expressed concern last night over proposed Highway 17 routing into their valley, their connection to Highway 101.

The various proposed routes from the San Rafael area to Nicasio were presented at a special meeting of the San Geronimo Valley Assn. at Lagunitas School.

M. E. Hardin, assistant district engineer, and Robert Graham, district planning engineer of the State Division of Highways presented the proposed routes to an audience of more than 25 persons.

"Our biggest concern is how to get to Highway 101 the fastest way," said Mrs. Joseph Furdas, association treasurer.

If the proposed central route through San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax were adopted, valley residents still would have to travel through "all that city traffic," she said.

"If we want to go north, we have to go to San Rafael and then go north," she said.

The shortest route for valley residents would be the proposed ridge route from White Hill to Highway 101 in the Civic Center area, said Mrs. Furdas.

Mrs. Winifred Frederick, an association director, said valley residents "are concerned with every portion of the route, not just through this valley."

Graham said the proposed route through the valley essentially follows the location of a proposed highway in the San Geronimo Valley Master Plan.

Although there are four main proposed routes, there is only one proposed route through the valley.

The valley portion of the route starting at White Hill would run south of the present Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, opposite the San Geronimo Valley high school site, then north along the ridge above the San Geronimo Valley golf course, northwest across the San Geronimo-Nicasio Road, and through Nicasio, south of the village square.

Hardin explained that the full route will be extended to Point Reyes, but the initial studies went only as far as Nicasio because Shoreline Highway routing has not been set.

If a central route, through San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax; a southern route through Greenbrae, Kentfield and Ross, or a ridge route from Terra Linda, or a combination route were adopted, any would enter the valley at White Hill.

The only proposed route which would not go through the valley is the Lucas Valley Road route, which would follow the present alignment of Lucas Valley Road, then swing north, west of Big Rock, and make a swing south along Halleck Creek to Nicasio.

Hardin noted that if the central route through San Rafael were combined with a ridge route through San Anselmo and Fairfax, traffic from the valley "could by-pass San Anselmo and Fairfax."

Mrs. Frederick asked whether Marin Municipal Water District land, west of Ross Valley cities, had been considered as location for the highway.

Hardin said highway staff members looked at the area. "This is rugged country, and it would be hard to do without chewing up the country," he said.

Mrs. Frederick asked whether the present roadway over White Hill would be widened or a new roadway cut through.

Hardin said a new highway would be constructed adjacent to the present roadway, and the present road would be left as a local or frontage road. Portions of the present road that were relocated would be improved, he said.

Mrs. Frederick also asked whether the county would be compensated for tax roll loses when property is taken off the tax roll for the highway. Hardin replied, "No." Later, he commented that the construction of a highway would open areas for more development, which in turn would provide more taxes.

Graham said the Division of Highways does not intend "to build another Bayshore or Highway 101 freeway" across Marin, but to contour grading and "leave redwood trees."

Hardin emphasized that any city or county can block a route by refusing to sign an agreement with the State Division of Highways. After distributing booklets of facts on the proposed routes, he said: "There are a lot of intangibles . . . things that can't be measured. This is the whole picture. This is what we can measure."

From now on, it is up to the public to evaluate the routes and express its feelings, he said.

The Division of Highways will have a public hearing on the proposed routes at 10 a.m. Nov. 14 at the Northgate Theater, Northgate Shopping Center, San Rafael. The final decision rests with the State Highway Commission, Hardin reported.

Rifle, Shotgun Stolen

Theft of a rifle and shotgun, worth $145, was reported yesterday to Mill Valley police by Cameron M. Craik, 54 Magee Avenue. The weapons were stolen from his unlocked car in front of his house between Oct. 14 and 22, he said.

Negroes Continue Grenada School Drive, Defy Arrest

GRENADA, Miss. (AP)—Negro leaders plan to continue demonstrations protesting alleged mistreatment of Negro pupils in recently desegregated public schools.

"I expect there will be a lot more arrested before it's over," said J.T. Johnson, a Southern Christian Leadership Conference worker heading a civil rights drive here.

Police arrested 214 marchers, most of them school-age children, yesterday when they tried to bypass barricades set up around the city's two previously all-white schools.

The schools have been a point of tension here since opening day, when gangs of white men roved the area, attacking Negro children with chains and ax handles.

All 214 were charged with obstructing normal use of public sidewalks and refusing to obey an order to disperse.

The march came after a weekend in which lawyers took statements from Negro children about alleged mistreatment in school. These were to form the basis of a complaint to the federal court which ordered the desegregation, leaders said.

About 75 pupils walked out of the two previously all-white schools last Friday. They were joined by others who boycotted Negro schools in sympathy. School officials suspended until Nov. 1 all 289 Negro pupils who joined the walkout.

Gayle Wilborn, superintendent of city-county schools, said the school board filed suit in U.S. District Court in Oxford for an injunction "against persons interfering with school operation." A hearing was scheduled for Oct. 31.

Clothes, Eggs Taken

Someone took two skirts, two dresses and two dozen eggs from the car of Vincent S. McCarthy of 99 Oak Knoll Road, San Anselmo, while it was parked at 18 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, yesterday, according to Corte Madera police.

Joy Riding Charge

A 14-year-old Mill Valley boy was cited Friday afternoon by police for joy riding on a motor scooter stolen Sept. 29 from David Gardner of Mill Valley. Police saw the scooter parked on Miller Avenue Friday morning, and staked out the area. The boy was arrested when he picked up the scooter after school.

Ugly is only skin-deep.

It may not be much to look at. But beneath that humble exterior beats an air-cooled engine. It won't boil over and ruin your piston rings. It won't freeze over and ruin your life. It's in the back of the car where the weight on the rear wheels makes the traction better in snow and sand. And it will give you about 27 miles to a gallon of gas.

After a while you get to like so much about the VW, you even get to like what it looks like.

You find that there's enough legroom for almost anybody's legs. Enough headroom for almost anybody's head. With a hat on it. Snug-fitting bucket seats. Doors that close so well you can hardly close them. (They're so airtight, it's better to open the window a crack first.)

Those plain, unglamorous wheels are each suspended independently. So when a bump makes one wheel bounce, the bounce doesn't make the other wheel bump. It's things like that you pay the $1717 for, when you buy a VW. The ugliness doesn't add a thing to the cost of the car.

That's the beauty of it.

It's Homecoming For San Rafael

San Rafael High School's Spirit week kicked off yesterday with crazy sock, tie and hat day, and will end Friday with a parade downtown before the homecoming football game against Novato High School.

The homecoming parade, with decorated cars and floats will start at 7 p.m. from E Street, go down Fourth Street to the High School and onto the football field.

Float drivers and riders meet at the school at 5:30 p.m., and students entering their cars will meet at the E Street parking lot by 6 p.m.

The five girls nominated for homecoming queen will ride decorated convertibles. They are: Nancy Tabor, Lynn Reese, Patti Colombo, Jackie Jenkins, and Carol Graham.

Today is clash day for spirit week, with students wearing clothes that clash. Tomorrow is Bermuda Day and everyone is expected to ride bicycles to school. At noon, senior boys will compete in a tricycle race.

Thursday is "Funeral Day" with black clothes the dress of the day, and Friday is Red and White Day, with a special rally and assembly after the sixth period.

Suspect Turned Loose On Stolen Motorbike

San Rafael police today stopped two 19-year-old youths on motorcycles stolen in San Francisco shortly before, but let one of them and the stolen cycle he was riding get away because a theft report had not yet been filed.

Stanley Michael Walker of Stockton and Robert Gerald Ahern of Modesto reportedly acted suspiciously when they saw an officer on Highway 101 in San Rafael. They were chased and stopped at the top of Puerto Suello Hill.

Neither had registration on his motorcycle, police said, and a check was made to see if the machines were stolen. They were cleared.

Stockton police had traffic warrants out for Walker, and he was jailed for those, lack of registration, and lack of a driver's license. Ahern was issued a citation for lack of registration and released.

Later, San Francisco police called to report that the Honda and Yamaha cycles were stolen at about 5 a.m. Police who began a search for Ahern, who had told them he was going to Stockton.

The Thing Just Static Electricity

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "You could hear this crackling sound," said Traffic Officer Richard Weinand at Geary and Stockton streets in downtown San Francisco, "and then you would see puffs of smoke and sparks sort of skipping across the pavement."

One woman said the "thing" jumped across the sidewalk in front of her. Another gave a shriek when it rippled across the pavement on Geary, at her heels.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co. engineers said the "thing" which was seen yesterday was static electricity. They said the pavement was good insulation, combined with the low humidity, 30 per cent, static built up and finally discharged on the street, the engineers said.

Husband Slayer Under Treatment

SAN CARLOS (AP) — Mrs. Assunta Ritchey, a former supper club singer, has been charged with murder in the gunshot death of her husband and removed to Agnews State Hospital.

Mrs. Ritchey, 37, was hospitalized yesterday after the family physician told authorities she had suicidal tendencies.

Arthur Ritchey, 50, job superintendent for a pipeline construction firm, died in the Ritchey's exclusive hill section home Sunday night, shot in the stomach with two .25 caliber bullets.

Sacramento Port Plans Expansion

SACRAMENTO (AP)— Bonds to finance a $3.1 million expansion of the Port of Sacramento were approved last night by the Sacramento-Yolo Port Commission.

Unanimous approval came after Fibreboard Products Corp. of Antioch protested that new facilities would foster competition with Japan in the wood chip business. Mitsui and Co., Inc., has signed a seven-year contract with the port to use proposed new cargo lifting facilities to load wood chips for Japan.

The river seaport also handles farm cargo, chiefly rice.

Approval of the bond issue must also come from the Sacramento and Yolo County supervisors. The revenue bonds don't require approval by voters.

'Rescue' Due For Isolated Businesses

A move has been started to "rescue" a section of Francisco Boulevard West in San Rafael, isolated by reconstruction of Highway 101 connections to the south of the city last fall.

The State Division of Highways today called for bids for a temporary one-way connection between Rice Street and Second Street to provide a more direct access to this part of the business district.

A year ago, the division changed the traffic pattern under the Highway 101 viaduct, blocking some streets and adding others. Some businessmen in Francisco Boulevard found themselves cut off from easy access.

This prompted property owners in a portion of Francisco Boulevard West to complain to the city council that the reconstruction was keeping business away.

The division announced today that $21,500 has been set aside for the project and bids will be opened Nov. 23 in Sacramento.

Police Chief Is Dog Fight Victim

Woodington said he tried to separate two dogs which were fighting outside the police station on Beach Road because he was concerned for the safety of some Redwood High School students, waiting for their bus, who crowded around the battling animals.

Tape Deck Stolen

Herbert Witt, vice principal at Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael, told police yesterday that someone stole a $150 tape recorder from a classroom at the school during the weekend. Police found no indication of forced entry to the room.

Park School Double Sessions End Monday

Double sessions at Mill Valley's Park School will end Monday with the shift of the two sixth grade classes to Alto School, district trustees learned last night.

Supt. G. R. McConnell said three classes would continue to use new and old faculty rooms and auditorium stage, pending replacement of four unsafe rooms in the school annex with portable classrooms, expected by the end oft the year.

Double sessions began at Park with the opening of school last month when engineers discovered the four rooms failed to meet the earthquake-resistance requirements of the state's Field Act.

Bids for the demolition will be opened Nov. 7. The district staff originally recommended by-passing the competitive bid process on the ground that it would take too much time, but changed its recommendation when it found calling bids add only two weeks to the timetable.

Action on proposed annexation to the Sausalito School District of the western half of Tennessee Valley, now divided by the two districts, was deferred to the board's meeting Nov. 7, at 7:45 p.m. at Edna Maguire School. The proposal will be discussed at a joint meeting with the Mill Valley City Council at 8 p.m. Thursday, 26 Miller Avenue.

Also to be discussed jointly is a proposal that the district buy a parcel of land at Catalpa and East Blithedale avenues. The parcel, plus creation by the city of a cul-de-sac on Catalpa, would permit enlargement of the Park School site.

Trustee Joseph E. Bodovitz announced that an advisory committee of architects has prepared a notice and questionnaire which will be mailed to all architects in the Bay Areas, soliciting applications for joint city-school master planning of Project 17, design of a middle school and planning of additions and alterations to existing schools.

Chairman of the advisory committee is Rex Whitaker Allen of Mill Valley, national vice president of the American Institute of Architects. Other members are William Stephen Allen and George Hasslein. Working with Bodovitz are city planning director, Harvy E. Bragdon and McConnell.

The selected architects should be employed by Jan. 1, Bodovitz said. Present indications are that a school bond election will be in the spring, he noted.

Mill Valley School Trustees Also:

1. Decided to discuss on Nov. 7 the proposed Mill Valley Teachers Assn. negotiation agreement, required under the state's Winton Act.
2. Signed an $8,200 lease for facilities used by Mill Valley's 106 voluntary transfers to Sausalito's Richardson Bay School.
3. Appointed Richard Leibes and Galen Williams and reappointed Howard Baumgarten and board chairman William L. Clark to the salary study committee.
4. Approved support of the Marin County Junior Museum at cost of 10 cents for each child enrolled.
5. Relieved Joyce Gross of assignment to the interdistrict committee, at her request, and appointed M. James Norton as her replacement.

Nothing Missing

Someone broke into the principal's office at Don Timoteo School in the Dixie School District during the weekend but did not take anything, San Rafael police reported today.

Queen Anne sovereign of England from 1702 to 1714, gave birth to 17 children, all of whom she outlived.

Park Work By Inmates Proposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown proposed today putting some 5,000 correctional conservation camp inmates to work next year building temporary facilities at undeveloped state park sites.

"This will make it possible to open urgently needed camping and picnic sites on an interim basis without added cost to the taxpayer," said Brown.

The governor, in a directive to state agencies involved in the project, specified that his proposal should be carried out within "existing budget and personnel resources."

The conservation corps inmates also are normally used for fire and flood control projects, fighting forest fires and other forest preservation projects.

Rec Board Sets Interview Date On Park Master Plan

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission last night set an open meeting for Nov. 14 at 7:45 p.m. at city hall to interview representatives of six planning firms that have made offers on a master plan for Sorich Ranch Park.

The commission approved a final draft of an ordinance which would require a permit for cutting trees on all but single-family residential property. The draft will now go to city council.

The commission discussed a 12-acre open area near Butterfield Road, and a 17-acre site in the Rosenthal tract, as possible future park sites, and asked recreation director A. J. Snyder Jr. to check into possibilities for federal and state funds for park development.

The commission also discussed the need for a park system master plan.

Snyder told the commission that 25 persons have signed up so far for the planned senior citizens recreation program and that he hopes to begin the program after Christmas.

Diet Changes, Are Linked To Cancer

TOKYO (AP) — Drinking milk seems to help protect some people against stomach cancer, but eating salted pickles every day seems to boost the risk.

These observations come from new studies into the mystery of why people do or do not get stomach cancers and why the risk of stomach cancer generally is coming down.

Cancer researchers suspect a main villain is what people eat, but they agree it is very difficult to blame particular food items or to prove that others are protective.

FOOD PUZZLE

The puzzle about food was reported today at sessions of the ninth International Cancer Congress.

Japan has one of the highest rate of stomach cancer in the world, along with Chile and Iceland. Dr. Takashi Hirayama of the National Cancer Research Institute told of comparing the diets of stomach cancer patients with Japanese free of the disease.

One main difference was that cancer victims drank less milk, he said. Another was that they used much more salty food, especially salted pickles, a mainstay of the Japanese diet.

People eating a combination of milk, meat and green-yellow vegetables had the lowest incidence or risk, he said.

The rate of stomach cancer in Japan has started to go down recently, and this may be associated with dramatic changes in the diet, particularly in increased milk consumption, said Dr. Hirayama.

STUDY REPORT

Dr. J. F. Higginson, director of the International Agency for Research on Cancer told of a study in the Kansas City area of the United States trying to pinpoint any particular dietary influence. As with other such studies, no single factor was implicated unequivocally, he said. But a possible relationship between cooked fats and stomach cancers could not be ruled out, Dr. Higginson said, suggesting that this be looked into in larger surveys in Western countries.

Planners Slap Hand Of Builder

Short tempers only served to extend the problem of unfinished shops next to Sabella's Restaurant in Alto yesterday when builder Harry Johnson appeared before the county planning commission.

Johnson, faced with a stop-work order from the county building department because of variation from approved plans, submitted new plans to the planning department Oct. 18.

DELAY ASKED

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the plans appeared adequate, but he would need more time to study them in order to make a fuller recommendation.

Johnson angrily refused to agree to a continuance. He tried to outline the history of his predicament, going back to 1960, but Commission Chairman Margaret Azevedo gaveled his presentation to a stop, saying nothing would be served by such a review.

"You cut me off the same way last time I was here," Johnson complained.

DENIAL MOVED

After Johnson refused the second time to agree to a continuance, Commissioner Eugene R. Trombley moved that the application for design approval be denied. This passed unanimously.

"I've never, ever seen such a ridiculous thing in my life!" Johnson stormed.

"You are the most uncooperative person who has ever appeared before this commission," Trombley declared.

Johnson asked how he could appeal the matter to county supervisors, and was told he must file appeal in 30 days.

Planners Want Advisers On Fault Area's Buildup

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday recommended that a committee be named to study the earthquake problem, particularly as it relates to construction on or near the an Andreas fault in West Marin.

The recommendation, to go to the board of supervisors, also asked that Commissioner Michael Praszker, a soils engineer, be named to the committee. Others would be representatives of the U. S. Geological Survey and Bureau of Mines, a structural engineer, and a private geologist.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said advice from a consultant also seems necessary. This could be had for about $3,000, he said. The commission made no decision on that recommendation.

Marin County Planing Commission Also:

1. Approved design of an addition to Herb's Pool Service and the Bamboo Reef at 3765 Redwood Highway, San Rafael Meadows.

2. Approved design of a $326,000 building on Synanon property at Marshall. The new building, to start next month, will be a social hall, and dormitory. There was no protest before the commission yesterday.

3. Conditioned approval of a riding arena building at the Atherton Club at Atherton Avenue and H Lane, east of Novato, on preparation of a plot plan showing development of the entire club property.

4. After hearing complaints of repeated continuance of Marincello items, ordered indefinite continuance of Marincello covenants and school site location. Interested parties will be notified when a hearing date is set, the commission said.

5. Approved a use permit to allow increase from 20 to 40 dogs at Marin Hills Kennels west of Fairfax, provided design of new facilities is under guidance of an accousitcal engineer, in the hope that noise for neighbors is minimzed.

6. Ordered preparation of an ordinance that will ban rooftop signs in commercial zones.

7. Approved an "exposure rack" proposed by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. on the coast north of Muir Beach for testing of weather effect on equipment.

8. Adjourned until 8 p.m. today for a hearing at the Civic Center on the State Division of Highways' proposed routes for Highway 17.

$100,000 To Go To Bear Victim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A boy mauled by a bear in Glacier National Park will receive $100,000 from a settlement.

U. S. Dist. Judge Jesse W. Curtis Jr. signed the settlement yesterday after the amount was agreed upon by lawyers of the Justice Department and the boy, Smith L. Parratt, 16, of suburban Upland.

"The settlement is predicated solely on the possibility that there was negligence," said William B. Spivak, an assistant U. S. attorney.

The bear attacked Parratt July 18, 1960, as he hiked with two rangers and two vacationing Swedish teachers.

Viet War Prompting Early Yule Shoppers

NEW YORK (AP)—Santa won't hitch up his reindeer for another two months, but the Christmas season already is starting to sparkle in the nation's stores.

An Associated Press survey shows that Christmas will be a little early, partly because of the Viet Nam war.

"Whenever there is a war, people have on their minds getting packages to Sonny," said W.G. Austin, manager of the Kansas City Merchants Association. "It makes them think about Christmas shopping earlier."

John McNavola, manager of a W.T. Grant variety store in Pittsburgh, Pa., said he noticed many persons shopping earlier "because of the boys in Viet Nam." He could tell, he said, because of a big demand for heavy corrugated cartons to ship merchandise and food.

"With the troops overseas and the need for early purchases and early mailing, we have to have our lines out in time," said H.P. Smith, Woolworth regional manager in San Francisco.

In Helena, Mont., Ben Morris, manager of the J.C. Penney department store, said he already is doing 25 to 30 gift wraps a day for Christmas.

Do people complain about early starts for the Christmas shopping season?

"There always have been some complaints about rushing the season," said a spokesman for the Frederick and Nelson department store in Seattle. "But it apparently is becoming more accepted by the public."

"If we waited until Thanksgiving to start, we would still be putting up decorations on New Year's," said Alfred Pierotti of Titche-Goettinger in Dallas, tex. "I've been hearing for the last 20 years that we start earlier every year, but that just isn't true."

Youth Draws Time On Taking Of Car

A 90-day county jail term and three years probation were given Freddie Louis Hunter, 20, yesterday in Marin Superior Court for car theft.

Hunter a transient, had pleaded guilty to taking a vehicle from Ross A. Swett in San Rafael last May 2.

Burning Tanker Wallows In Gulf

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP) — The burning tanker Gulfstag, still a potential king-sized bomb, wallowed in the Gulf of Mexico's calm swells today.

The Coast Guard said seven dead men apparently were aboard.

The seven never got off when the crew abandoned ship yesterday.

"It is believed that all missing persons were trapped in their staterooms," said Larry L. Larue, captain of the 572-foot Gulf Oil Corp. tanker.

Two Coast Guard cutters, the Point Lookout of Morgan City, La., and the Iris, out of Galveston, Tex., were standing by at a safe distance, along with the tug Titan from Sabine, Tex.

It is believed that whiskey was introduced in England in the 12th century. The Spanish Moors were the first Europeans to distill spirits.

Why you should make a will

And how to go about it.

Many intelligent people quite unknowingly penalize their families by neglecting to leave a will. When this happens the law will step in and do what they failed to do; name their beneficiaries, set the proportion of the estate to go to each and appoint an administrator. However, distribution by law by its very nature cannot be expected to produce an imaginative and personal estate plan for every family. It may place sudden wealth in hands least capable of managing it or cause severe hardships for another left with insufficient resources. It may force the sale of assets such as the family home or valuable income producing securities.

Today many young men are making a will as a sound matter of business and thus avoiding these problems for their families. Sausalito Turns Down Marincello School Bid

Sausalito School District trustees last night rejected a request from Frouge Corp., developer of Marincello, that the district provide the developer with architectural plans and engineering studies for schools planned in the development.

The request was premature, trustees agreed, until agreemnt is reached on location of school sites in the development. The district and county planning staff have suggested a 35-acre high school site and three elementary school areas of 10, 15 and 30 acres. Frouge has suggested a 29-acre high school site and four elementary school sites of 10 acres each.

The sites sought by the district, Frouge spokesmen have complained, are all in choice, level areas.

Trustees asked the county planning commission to designate school sites in the development.

Supt. Phillip W. Schneider reported the national task force, a division of the Health, Education and Welfare department, has granted $60,000 to the Sausalito teacher education project run by San Francisco State College. The additional federal financing, Schneider said, "will plug the holes in the project's financing."

Mill Valley Leaves Park Site Natural

Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night agreed to leave Miller Grove on West Blithedale Avenue in its natural state.

In a review of the master plan for parks and recreation, commissioners agreed to provide redwood slab benches and footpaths in the grove, but to exclude picnic and play areas. Eighteen residents of the neighborhood attended the meeting. Most of them opposed further development of the park.

Commissioners also said Blithedale Park in the Allen subdivision, between Manzanita Place and West Blithedale Avenue, should remain a natural area.

Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos was directed to check the proposed Blithedale Canyon park at Eldridge and Corte Madera avenues to learn whether it could be purchased by the city.

The commission asked the city council to appeal to the tate Park Commission to use the $4 million allocation for expansion of Mount Tamalpais State Park to buy private land, not land held by Marin Municipal Water District.

County Airport Fund Hopes Fade

Prospects for federal aid this year for development of the county airport at Novato looked slim to Supervisor William A. Gnoss today.

Gnoss said he had received a letter from Rep. Donald R. Clausen, R-First District, saying that all general aviation airports "are in danger of temporary deferment in order to reuce government spending."

The county has applied for 54 per cent aid from the Federal Aviation Agency for the $600,000 airport project.

Youngsters Cited For Store Burglary

Three young San Anselmo boys two 12 and one 14 years old, were cited yesterday for the Sunday burglary of the San Anselmo Pharmacy by San Anselmo police.

The burglary netted $37.83 in cash, plus cigarettes and lighters. The three boys were given juvenile citations and released to their parents.

Students Dislike Tam Lunch Split

Student reaction to split lunch periods at Tamalpais High School, Principal Robert H. Prather said today, generally has been negative.

"It was rather a surprise to them. They object that they can't eat with their friends, and that the split makes student activities more difficult," he said.

"When students are communicating again on a really meaningful level, we will see about changing back to a single lunch period."

The split lunch periods started today. They were ordered yesterday to relieve racial tension and alleviate crowding, Prather said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Viral Hepatitis Like Iceberg, One Case In 30 Discovered

VAN DELLEN

Viral hepatitis is like an iceberg. For every case of this liver disease that is verified, there are as many as 30 that go undetected. The attack may be so mild that symptoms are passed off as flu or a slight cold. This is what makes the disorder so tricky because the liver is damaged and every victim is contagious whether or not the hepatitis is recognized.

The onset of the disease follows a familiar pattern. The victim complains of malaise, fatigue, and loss of appetite. There may be some distress in the upper part of the right side of the abdomen. The skin may itch, the heart beats faster, and the temperature rises. Some complain that the smell of tobacco smoke is nauseating. If the infection stops here it is likely to be regarded as influenza. The one victim in 30 gets worse and a week later the skin and whites of the eye turn yellow. The yellowish tinge is caused by bile in the tissues that is forced into the bloodstream by the blockage created when the liver cells swell.

VIRAL HEPATITIS is on the increase and 1966 may be a record year. The unreported cases make control difficult. The causative viruses are eliminated via the intestinal contents and spread by contaminated water, food, and hands. Shellfish from polluted waters were implicated in outbreaks a few years ago. The peak incidence is in autumn and early winter.

One attack is followed by everlasting immunity. Children and young adults are most susceptible although it is gradually becoming a "growing up" disease, in that more and more adults are developing the disorder.

It is common in institutions, military bases, and wherever living conditions are crowded and sanitation is poor. Hepatitis also may follow a blood transfusion donated by a person who had the condition within a year.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

MENTAL INFIRMITY

W. W. writes: Is there a cure for senile dementia?

REPLY

No, but some improvement may follow when physical defects such as infections are corrected. A proper diet and drugs that improve the circulation to the brain may help.

LIMITED BLOOD FLOW

Mrs. C. B. writes: Is angina pectoris dangerous in a 60-year-old woman?

REPLY

Angina pectoris always is serious because pain is a sign that the heart muscle is not obtaining so much blood as it needs to work efficiently during exercise or emotional disturbances. The circulation can be improved, however, and this will alleviate distress and overcome the dangerous aspect of the condition. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on angina pectoris.

ALLERGY AND MENOPAUSE

Mrs. G. writes: Could the menopause bring on allergy of the nose?

REPLY

No, but the emotional changes that accompany the menopause may aggravate existing nasal allergy.

Tomales Committee To Seek School Site

Trustees of Tomales High School District — its fate in doubt in a unification impasse between county and state—last night appointed a committee to seek a site for a new high school.

The district board has given up plans to use funds from a 1964 bond issue to reconstruct the condemned school building in Tomales, because bids on the work exceeded the funds available.

Residents of the West Marin School District portion of the high school district have asked for relocation of the school nearer their area—perhaps in the vicinity of Inverness or Point Reyes Station.

Meanwhile, the State Board of Education has thrice rejected a proposal of the Marin and Sonoma Counties School District Organization Committees that the high school district be unified with elementary districts in its present area. The state board has declared an impasse —which means it may dictate the area to be considered for unification.

The way is still open for other unification proposals, however, trustee Roy A. Parks, a member of the school district organization committee, told fellow trustees last night.

Appointed to the site committee were Richard C. Marshall, the district's newly appointed architect, William J. Wynn, Joseph Tremari of Bloomfield, Raymond Romelli of Valley Ford, Kent Lawson of Dillon Beach, Harold Ames of Bodega Bay, Richard Velloza Sr. of Point Reyes Station, and Supt. Anthony Matulich. Another member is to be named by trustee Jean A. Adams of Marshall, who was absent last night.

Selection of a building committee and a bond election committee was deferred by the board.

Clean Up Film Scheduled Nov. 7

The Marin County Planning Department will show a film on a community cleanup program entitled "Magdalen Street" for Fairfax residents at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 7 at the Fairfax Women's Club, 46 Park Road.

City Administrator David J. Sumbardo said the film shows a "clean up, paint up, fix up" program for a central business district.

Luna 12 Races To Rendezvous With The Moon

MOSCOW (UPI) —Russia's Luna 12 satellite raced toward a rendevous with the moon today. With it rose the Soviets' hopes for their first good pictures of possible sites for a manned lunar landing.

Luna 12 was launched last Saturday morning. It was to end its three-and-a-half day journey sometime this evening with a burst of retro-rocket fire to cut its speed and kick it into an orbit around the moon.

Soviet scientists hoped the satellite would succeed where the last two lunar orbiters apparently failed—sending back clear, detailed photographs of the moon's battered surface.

If all goes well, the first pictures should be transmitted back to receivers in Russia within hours of its successful orbiting.

PAR-MEDIC

Opportune Fields In Labor Market

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) —The fields of travel and recreation, social services, education and government offer the most opportunities to women who wish to return to the labor market, says a woman who conducts a university "career horizons" program.

Mrs. Mort (Barbara) Dank, a Radcliffe College and Hofstra University graduate, conducts the program now entering its seventh session at Hofstra on Long Island.

The sessions are geared to the women who hold college degrees or have attended college. Their numbers are in the thousands.

Mrs. Dank, in an interview, detailed some of the types of careers where the demand already is great and growing. "Local government," she said, "as well as state and federal is an expanding field."

"ONE OF THE BIG fields is the par-medic," she said. This embraces the professions related to medicine —occupational and physical therapy, various hospital jobs, even physical education.

The service fields include librarians, social work, credit counseling and money management, ad infinitum. In recreation, she said, there are a variety of jobs in the performing arts, and in teaching if you're an expert in arts or crafts.

Travel agencies offer unlimited opportunity, said Mrs. Dank.

In the field of teaching alone, she said there "is such a shortage of teachers, if you know what you want to do, you'll have no problems."

But consider, she said, the fringe areas of school life — teaching remedial reading, for instance, or being a teacher's aide, taking some of the paper work and other detail off the teacher so she'll have time to do the job for which she was hired —teaching.

IN THE 10 SESSIONS of two hours each, Mrs. Dank also discusses a "sampling" of opportunities in other fields — marketing research, retailing, the stock market, home economics, life insurance, banking, and real estate.

Why do the women seek to return to work? Mrs. Dank said the reasons are varied. One mother wants to supplement the family income to help finance a college education for the children. Some women think they have a real contribution to make to the business world, now that their children are grown. "And some," said Mrs. Dank, "let's face it, realize the statistics. They're preparing for widowhood."

MANY OF THE WOMEN just feel a push to resume their interrupted college studies because they've "in their minds, lost intellectual contact with the world.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

The Awkward Age May Stem From Self-Consciousness, Not Thinking

DEAR HELEN:

My friends have nicknamed me "Jinx." I walk into doors and walls, fall over desks, benches, tables, my feet. I must be accident prone as I've passed by awkward age—I'm 15.

Is there anything I can do, because I hate it when people yell, "Boy, keep away from me—there's the wall to bounce off," or "How's your extra foot?" or "Hi, fall-guy!"

Please help.—JINX

DEAR JINX:

It wouldn't hurt to have a thorough physical check-up. I doubt that you're suffering from anything more than self-conscious clumsiness (brought on by poor coordination and not thinking ahead) but it's best to be sure.

Many 15-year-olds haven't yet outgrown the awkward age—and teasing prolongs it. Your friends are about as funny as a tin can on a dog's tail, and they deserve a swift kick—with your extra foot!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am a girl of 12. Where I live all the girls are too young or too old. I'm big for my age, and look about 14 or more. The older girls are mad at me because the boys like me. I do my best to keep away from them but it's no use. When they ask me for dates I always say "No" and walk away. The girls near my age don't like me because I don't look like them. I want girl friends, but I'm like an outcast. Will anything help.—DNH.

DEAR D:

Yes, honey, time will help—probably no more than six months of it, when some of your age group starts catching up with you. It's a shame, but an early developer almost always creates jealousy and uneasiness among girls.

To "get even" for this unfair treatment she may go boy-crazy—after all THEY appreciate her. And this can be dangerous, for she is still a "little girl" in a "big girl's" body.

I'm glad you've got better sense, DNH. Stay friendly, ignore the slights, act your age, and very soon you'll be popular with both sexes.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My dumb junior high school brothers have taken up smoking. I try to tell them it's just showoffy and they look nothing but silly—kind of like little girls dressing up in their mother's high heels. But they think they're big men, and they even brag about having the habit, so they can't quit. I don't see how you can get a habit when you only sneak a couple a day. I don't want to be a fink and tell my folks, so maybe you can tell junior high kids how they look when they smoke.—BIG SISTER

DEAR SISTER:

Be glad to. A cigarette in the mouth of a junior high schooler pegs him as a "childish little punk"—not so much by grown-ups as by high school students: The very people he's trying to impress with his "manliness." Like the 12-year-old girl who slathers on make-up, the more he reaches for age, the younger he appears.

Get this across to your brothers and you won't need to fink on them. Hopefully they'll "kick the habit"—which will really give them points with the kids as strong, determined guys.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Two years ago this friend announced her engagement so we gave her a shower. Then they postponed the wedding. She announced it again last year. Another shower. Another postponement. Now she tells us they'll be married next month. Must we—again?—TIRED

DEAR TIRED:

No! And don't buy their wedding present until after the ceremony.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Ski Shirt

New for the slopes is the ski shirt, designed for women but looking like a man's button-down collar oxford shirt. Matter of fact, it was the man's oxford that started the new item in sportwear, reports Jack A. Winter, president of the company introducing the style. One of the firm's executives, Peter Bauer, a skier, noticed girl skiers last spring in Vermont with boy shirts flying out over their ski pants. Bauer used one of his own shirts for a model, bought oxford from a supplier to men's wear, and added waterproofing and lining. The shirts come in three colors—oxford blue, chamois with blue stripes, and wine.

The Real Girl

Will the real girl stand up and be counted. She's on the way "in" in the fashion world, reports the National Shoe Retailers Association which keeps tabs on all styles. The "brash, synthetic, hard exaggerated ways" of dress are on the way out, reports NSRA. "The incoming trend is a more wholesome, fresh, unaffected way of dress of hair and makeup of eyes and lips. The new girl is themed as "romantic" of the "real" item.

Other players in the production, directed by Dan Totheroh, include Marrianne Richardson and Brian Rowland. Performances are scheduled Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m.

Better Buses For Commuters To Be Sought

Mrs. Mary H. Price of 1771 Mar West complained to Tiburon city councilmen last night of the "old, uncomfortable Greyhound buses" being used on commute runs between Tiburon and San Francisco.

"We pay the same fare as San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax, yet we ride in old relics of buses with wobbly seats," she protested. "Your children ride to Redwood High Schhol in these same buses."

Councilmen agreed this might be an added point to their recently expressed opposition to higher Greyhound bus rates. The city will ask the bus company for more modern equipment on the Tiburon run.

"It's things like this that made commuters get off buses and drive their cars to the city," said Mayor John S. Hoffmire.

Prop. 1 Backing Draws Opposition

Mayor John S. Hoffmire's proposal that Tiburon City Council endorse Prop 1 on the Nov. 8 general election ballot met with opposition last night.

Hoffmire said he favored the council endorsement of the proposed amendment to the state constitution because it would enable public agencies, to "broaden their investment policies" by investing a portion of retirment funds in common stocks.

"I remember the depression well," said councilman Gordon W. Strawbridge. "I feel I would be doing city employees a favor to vote against this endorsement."

Councilman Branwell D. Fanning thought the amendment's timing was "incredibly bad" and was concerned that Tiburon might be swamped with appeals to endorse other propositions. "I am definitely opposed to having the council support it," Fanning said.

Councilmen William R. Bremer was skeptical about the recent history of common stocks, but said he would stand by the mayor in endorsing it.

Faced with a 2-2 vote (councilman Thomas E. Drohan was absent) Hoffmire withdrew his proposal rather than have it stalemated which "people wouldn't understand."

Architect Gives Center Report

The ad hoc committee on management of the auditorium and fairgrounds at the Civic Center discussed development plans at length with architect Aaron Green of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation last night.

The two-hour session was largely to inform members of the committee and no action was taken, parks and recreation director Pierre W. Joske reported today.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the Civic Center to discuss organization of the proposed non-profit corporation that would be set up to run the facilities.

Council Gives Firm Break On TV Cable

Tiburon City Council will not require that television cables in its city be placed underground.

Councilmen last night talked at length about such a requirement for a revised community antenna television ordinance, but decided not to include it.

Mayor John S. Hoffmire Jr. suggested cable could be installed in a slot rather than a trench. He favored requiring it as a step toward undergrounding all utility lines.

City Engineer Ray Foreaker said he had been informed by Clearview Television, franchise holder, that the cost of undergrounding cable would be $11,000 a mile. He said there are 17 miles of streets in Tiburon.

Councilman William R. Bremer thought such an outlay would be an unfair burden to the television cable company.

Planning Administrator Phil Scott estimated such installation would add at least $30 per house to connection charges for the television cable.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

1. Made the board of design review official in adopting a revised ordinance, amended as recommended by the planning commission to require three board votes on private master plan.

2. Adopted an ordinance rezoning five lots in Golden View Heights, owned by Lucy Bridge of Belvedere, from duplex to planned duplex zone.

3. Authorized the mayor to sign a contract with the California State Employees System, to begin next Jan. 1, establishing an employees' retirement system for city workers.

4. Continued until next meeting an appeal by Dr. Paul E. Wilson from planning commission denial of rezoning from single-family dwelling on one-acre lots to quarter-acre lots on Hacienda Drive, at Dr. Wilson's request.

5. Authorized the mayor to execute an agreement on behalf of the city with Frank R. Pulici Jr. to correct slide damage in the Francisco Vista subdivision, part of Hilary Heights. The city and the County of Marin have brought court action against the developer and his bonding company.

6. Authorized Foreaker to execute an informal contract with Connors and Ritter of San Rafael for $1,522 to repair slide damage on Round Hill Road.

Drama Critic Will Speak On Saturday

The Festival Theater of San Anselmo will present Harold Clurman as featured speaker during a day-long conference Saturday on "Three Faces of Theater."

Clurman is a drama critic of the Nation magazine and a teacher at Actor's Studio in New York.

Robert Loper of the Stanford Repertory Theater; Robert Goldsby, professor of dramatic art at the University of California, and Stanley Eichelbaum, critic for the San Francisco Examiner, will discuss the relationships of the critic, educator and dramatic artist in contemporary theater.

The program will conclude with a rehearsal view of the Festival Theater's current production, "The Typists and the Tiger."

The symposium is open by invitation to teachers participating in the drama conference program, and members of the Regional Theater Council of American National Theater Academy.

'Thurber Carnival' Set At Clubhouse

Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club's players will present "Thurber Carnival" at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse Nov. 11, 12, 18, 19, 25 and 26.

Ex-Police Chief Slain In East Bay

OAKLAND (AP)—Police said an Oakland industrial executive shot a former Brentwood police chief to death today after being evicted from a marathon cocktail party at a chic wig shop.

Spence reported an argument broke out between O'Hara and Earl Thorgensen, husband of the shop owner, Trudy Thorgensen.

Thorgensen ordered O'Hara to leave. O'Hara did, but returned in about 20 minutes saying he wanted to pick up his wife.

Weyand, acting as security guard, escorted the O'Haras out.

Spence reported witnesses said shots rang out up the street from the wig shop.

Painting Exhibit

Irene Clark, a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago, will exhibit her paintings through Nov. 24 at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, Drake and Donahue avenues, Marin City.

Television mini-cameras measuring 1.5 by 3 by 4.5 inches are being tested by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Tiburon Council Fears New Mill Valley Annexation Drive

Although Mill Valley has withdrawn from the Strawberry annexation race, Tiburon City Council is concerned it may suddenly re-enter.

"If their application had been turned down by the Local Agency Formation Commission, they would have to wait a year to re-apply. Since they withdrew, they can come in tomorrow with a new application to annex just the Strawberry Shopping Center. It's one of the dangers we face," Mayor John S. Hoffmire told the council last night.

He said Tiburon is "proceeding with annexation" by giving out information to inquirers.

He told councilmen there will be a meeting on the subject Nov. 3 at 8 p.m. at the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary on Strawberry Point.

LAFC's hearing on Tiburon's petition for annexing unincorporated areas on the peninsula, including Strawberry, is expected to be scheduled for Nov. 10.

Faulty Data Cancels Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The launching of an Atlas-Centaur rocket on a test flight was postponed today when faulty temperature data came from a radio channel in the second stage.

No new launching date was set immediately.

A space agency spokesman said that a land line connected to the rocket on the pad relayed proper data but that the radio channel did not. Without the temperature information, ground stations would not be able to evaluate performance of the second stage during flight.

Main goal of the test flight will be the first double ignition of high-powered hydrogen engines in space.

Woman's Hip Hurt; Struck By Vehicle

Deborah Jean Biesemeier, 16, of 331 C Street, San Rafael, suffered a bruised left hip yesterday when struck by a car while she was crossing Fourth Street in a crosswalk at Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael police said.

The male driver of the car may not have known he struck her, police said, for he watched her retreat to the sidewalk, then drove off slowly. Miss Biesemeier gave police the car's license number.

Oils and water colors of Bay Area scenes by William F. Dohrmann of Sausalito are on display through Dec. 1 at Creative Arts, 22 El Portal, Sausalito.

Guilty Plea In Assault Case

Judge Joseph G. Wilson scheduled judgment for next Monday.

Frank, of 227 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, entered the apartment of John Tomczak and Dwain E. Essig at 190 Throckmorton Avenue on Oct. 3. Police said he told them he broke in not to steal, but "looking for somebody to rape."

Frank, who was returned July 27 after 21 months of treatment at Atascadero State Hospital as a sexual psychopath following a September, 1964, assault with intent to commit rape, is held in county jail in lieu of $2,200 bail.

He had been released on his own recognizance when arrested on the burglary charge.

Judge Wilson also scheduled further proceedings next Monday on the attempted rape. Frank pleaded guilty to that last Sept. 30.

Senator To Write ABAG Study Bill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. J. Eugene McAteer said today he will introduce a bill in the 1967 legislature aimed at creating a nine - county San Francisco Bay Area regional government.

The San Francisco Democrat said the first step would be to set up a commission for 15 months of public hearings and studies on the scope of such a government. The commission's recommendations would go to the 1969 legislature.

"We are constantly fragmenting our efforts to maintain the Bay Area as a good place to live and work with our separate agencies to deal with smog, water pollution, rapid transit, bay fill, open space and other regional needs," McAteer said.

State Asks Congress' Aid On G.I. Milk Cost

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Board of Agriculture has asked for negotiations to settle a dispute between state agriculture officials and the federal government over whether state milk prices should apply to military bases.

In 1960 the federal government obtained an injunction preventing California enforcement of its milk price schedules on military bases in the state. The case went to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The agriculture board late yesterday aternoon asked Agriculture Director Charles Paul and Gov. Edmund G. Brown to negotiate military milk prices with the California congressional delegation in Washington.

The board said negotiations should be aimed at giving dairymen the highest, or class one price on milk sold to military bases. The drop in prices ordered by the federal injuction cost California dairymen an estimated $6.9 million a year.

Heir Sought For $92,000 Not Claimed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state is looking today for anyone legally entitled to inherit more than $150,000 in unclaimed estates.

The state is holding $92,000 left by Mary E. Nicholson, a widowed housewife who died three years ago in Santa Maria at the age of 94. The state controller's office is also looking for heirs to $66,500 left by Laura C. Bates of El Cajon, who died two years ago at the age of 71.

The controller's office occassionally publishes lists of unclaimed estates. So far there have been no claimants to a list published last June, Controller Alan Cranston reported.

The state is also seeking legal heirs to 13 smaller estates of under $20,000, Cranston said.

Kindergarten Most Important

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alumni of Propect Head Start have more "thirst for knowledge" than their contemporaries, a study shows, but this can backfire if the youngster has a poor kindergarten teacher.

Results released yesterday followed up on 179 kindergartners who had taken Head Start courses under the antipoverty agency's program to help disadvantaged children get off to a good start in school.

Findings showed that children who had Head Start "still have greater readiness for learning than their classmates, six months later."

Firm Seeks Dredging Extension

The United Sand and Gravel Division of A. G. Schoonmaker Co. of Sausalito has applied for a three-year extension of time to continue dredging under terms of a Department of the Army permit.

The Army Corps of Engineers, San Francisco, District, states that dredging would be adjacent to the southwesterly side of Angel Island in San Francisco Bay. The corps estimates that approximately 350,000 cubic yards of material would be removed each year to a maximum depth of 60 feet below mean low water.

Objections to the three-year extension of time may be filed in triplicate by Nov. 21 with Lt. Col. Frank Boerger, District Engineer, Army Corps of Engineers, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco.

Jury Delivers Murder Charge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco County Grand Jury indicted Andrew Jancuska last night on a charge of murdering Mrs. Marian Youngblood, 23, Oct. 14.

Mrs. Youngblood's body was found in the compressor room at a service station. She had been killed with a hatchet, according to police.

Police testified that Jancuska's bloody palm print was found near the death scene and the woman's handbag, one of her shoes and one of her stockings were discovered on the roof of the building where Jancuska, 27, lived.

Kentfield School Trustees Fear Highway 17 Proposal

The Kentfield School District board last night directed Supt. Anthony C. Bacich to write to the Marin County Planning Commission expressing the board's concern over the proposed southern route for Highway 17 extension.

The board said the route would divide the school district and increase the district's traffic safety problems.

The board decided to continue to admit students to the district's crowded kindergarten classes, and approved hiring two part-time teaching assistants, Mrs. Nancy Parker and Mrs. Sally Brown, at $2.25 an hour to assist with kindergarten.

The board heard reports on new programs being started in the district, including a program for "culturally disadvantaged" children financed by a $2,740 federal grant, and a program for educationally handicapped children.

Elevator Sticks; Woman Rescued

Mrs. John Thornton of 61 Santa Rosa Avenue became stuck on the first floor after the elevator doors closed. Attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr., whose office is in the building, heard the alarm and called firemen.

A retired elevator repairman, Ralph Steward of 411 Turney Street, gave Mrs. Thornton instructions on how to open the doors manually from inside the elevator. She was freeed after about 15 minutes in captivity.

San Rafael Teacher At Drug Conference

George F. Lester, health education teacher at San Rafael High School, represented San Rafael City Schools at a conference on students and drugs—particularly LSD and marijuana—called by State Atty. Gen. Thomas Lynch for today and tomorrow at the Jack Tar Hotel, San Francisco.

The conference, attended by educators, clerics, police and representatives from community agencies throughout the state, is to discuss the legal battle against drugs and possible solutions to school and community problems created by increased use of the drugs.

Innocent Pleas On Two Charges

Richard A. Guyman, 29, and Linda Jo Galli, 22, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a joint complaint charging forgery and car theft.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson scheduled jury trial for the week of Nov. 28.

The pair, from San Francisco, allegedly forged an $800 check, Sept. 20 in Corte Madera with intention to defraud Phillip W. Hauser of San Francisco, and stole a car from Redwood Lincoln-Mercury Inc. in Corte Madera the same day.

Open Space Amendment Furthers Conservation

PROPOSITION 3, the Open Space Conservation measure, strikes a responsive chord in conservation and esthetic conscious Marin.

We have previously expressed support for the proposition.

To repeat: The amendment would permit the Legislature to define open space when such lands are restricted solely for recreation, enjoyment of scenic beauty, use of natural resources, and growing of crops or trees.

At present, county assessors are required to assess land on the basis of best possible use. The effect is that pasture or farmland, assessed on the basis of subdivision or commercial use, cannot withstand the high taxes. Owners are very often forced to give up grazing or farming and convert to subdivisions, pavement and concrete.

Proposition 3 would give open land owners a little more incentive to retain land in its open state. We recommend a YES vote on Proposition 3.

PROPOSITIONS 5 AND 10 both deal with relief for damaged property in "disaster areas."

Proposition 5 would permit tax relief on damaged property in "disaster areas." A 1964 proposition permitted the Legislature to give tax relief on property in "disaster areas" damaged by fire, flood or an act of God. Proposition 5 would extend that to include, not only acts of God, but man-made damages.

Giving tax relief to destroyed property certainly makes sense, because owners of destroyed property should not have to pay taxes "on a dead horse." But unfortunately, the language of the proposition limits tax relief to areas designated as "disaster areas."

As Assemblyman John G. Veneman points out, a man who loses his home in a "disaster area" would get tax relief while another who suffers the same misfortune outside a "disaster area" would get no relief.

An insured property owner in a "disaster area" would get tax relief, while another owner on the outside, who may not be covered by insurance, would pay through the nose.

The "outside" man would be penalized doubly—paying full taxes on his own destroyed home plus the share of taxes that would have been borne by owners in the "disaster area."

While we favor the idea of tax relief on destroyed property, we do not think this proposition does an equitable job. We recommend a NO vote on Proposition 5.

Similar arguments would apply in the case of Proposition 10, which would provide lending of public funds with no interest or low interest for repair of private property in "disaster areas."

Federal disaster loans at low interest are already available. State aid has been given in the past by specific legislation to replace public property destroyed in disaster areas. Private insurance covers many of the losses.

Proposition 10 opens up a brand new pipeline to public funds—the use of state funds to restore private property. Here again, the aid is discriminatory in that it is directed at property within "disaster areas" but not outside

We recommend a NO vote on Proposition 10.

The Ragged Flowers Of October

Along with the changing colors of the autumnal trees and the coming glory of the chrysanthemums, most of Marin's flowers are starting to look a bit tattered and tacky.

The roses still bloom, but they aren't the roses of spring, full of new sap and vigor. Rather, they are tired. Soon their sap will retreat and leave the branches withered, while life persists in the roots underground.

Life for the annual plants will exist only in the seeds.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

By HENRY C. McARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It has been common knowledge for many years that the practice of the incumbent putting the bite on state employees and members of boards and commissions, for election contributions has been prevalent.

Disclosures to the effect that 277 men and women on the public payroll, contributed to Gov. Edmund G. Brown's campaign this year indicates the wide extent to which the practice has grown during the present administration.

In effect, the practice constitutes payment for the privilege of serving the public, although there is no hard and fast rule that a state employee gets fired if he fails to contribute.

In fact, many have flatly refused and have escaped sanctions.

THERE ARE several schools of thought on the subject. One is that campaign contributions are payments by a public employee either for his job, or for the privilege of keeping his job after election — if the incumbent happens to win.

Some employees privately think they have landed in soft, government jobs, perhaps not earning the money they are paid for the work they are supposed to do, so why not kick back and thus assure themselves of another four years of ease on the taxpayers' largesse?

Still another group of employees regard campaign contributions as the custom.

Still others, out of the administration picture, feel that if state employees earn enough money to contribute, taxpayers are paying them too much in the first place.

ONE SCHOOL feels that the employee contribution is public money, out of taxpayer funds and therefore should be used not to promote the interests of any administration.

Another feels that the state employee at least is paid the money even if he doesn't earn it and it is his to do with as he pleases.

Whether the contributions constitute violations of any of the state's election laws, particularly when persons under state civil service contribute, never has been determined by the courts.

Some contributions come from persons "on leave" from civil service, who can return to a job with a lesser salary under a new administration.

HOWEVER, it's the intolerable hypocrisy involved rather than the few thousands in contributions. Brown was adamant in demanding a code of ethics for legislators to help wipe out conflict of interest problems. But at the same time, he condones the practice of accepting gifts to maintain his bureaucracy.

This in itself would appear to be a reprehensible conflict of interest between the administration and the people it is supposed to serve.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am sick to the teeth of 'bonus bingo,' 'play the races,' 'cash on a line,' and all the other gimmicks, lotteries, and sweepstakes that confront and plague us when we seek to provide fuel for our autos, bread for our tables, and milk for our children.

I don't know which is worse, the willingness of a bored and vain public to pay for and indulge in these absurdities, or the degenerate and profit-mad mercantile and advertising industry which fills our eyes and ears with all of this side-show barking.

That full-page announcement of a new supermarket bingo game filled me with nausea. I urge your readers to boycott all establishments which cheapen and debase our values, and thus our society, in this way (to say nothing of increasing our food bills).

And while they're at it, I hope your readers will take a long look at the Monster of Advertising, which long ago bypassed its function of informing and selling, and which now provokes, pervades, and perverts our thoughts, our values, and our sexual fantasies. I would like to see a legislature somewhere limit our happy hucksters to, say, 25 per cent of the printed page, and five per cent of television and radio time. Let the magazines charge the same for that quarter-page that they do now for a full one.

Perhaps our children would then be able to read an article, finish a train of thought, be entertained, or be enlightened in a sustained and impressive way by something that might enrich their lives a little, rather than be jolted, deafened, blinded, and titillated by Madison Avenue muck.

We need, I suggest, much less gambling in our grocery stores and much more relative substance in our mass media.

Reader Raps TV Decision

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The "Affairs of State" article by Edwin S. Capps (Oct. 17, 1966) raised excellent points the court action means that the people have "no right" to make a decision and expect it to stand, according to Capps.

My question is, did the people of California have a right to tell the businessmen in question that they could not sell their product (subscription TV programming) any more than the same voters had the right to tell you that you would not be permitted to sell a newspaper subscription for home delivery, or your neighbor to sell a subscription to a magazine, or that I could not sell Critique Sheet on the Pros and Cons of present TV programs and motion pictures to community theaters?

The simple axiom of supply and demand would have decided whether Pay TV was to endure. Simple, and who's rights would have been violated?

Member Happy With Union

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have always been proud to be a member of Painters' Local No. 83 in San Rafael, for I feel that it embodies the best of the labor movement — it is small enough so that each member is not just a number on a dues card; the business agents have protected the rights and welfare of the individual members; and, most importantly, it has always been run honestly. We have one of the wealthiest per capita locals in the United States, due almost entirely to the efforts of one man, George Scott.

During the many years that Scott has built a local in which the members can take pride, I know of no painter who complained about the administration of the local. All the good that he has accomplished for us is about to be sacrificed in the current hassle between the District Councils and the International.

The MEMBERS of Local No. 83 have voted twice to stay in District Council 16, but it seems that two or three brothers think they know what is best for the other 447 of us. District Council No 8 has never done anything for Local No. 83, except force us to strike a year ago; without even a strike vote. I think our local should stick to what it does best — taking care of the man who swings a brush from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. — and leave the power politics to those who want their names in the headlines.

How About More Gates?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

My letter is more of a question than complaint; it is in regard to last week's football game at San Rafael against Terra Linda team.

Friday evening my husband and I rushed through our errands so we could attend the game. When we finally reached the gates, we found a mass, in fact, several masses of people, all waiting to get through two little gates. The game had just begun and the adults and students would be lucky if they were inside by the second quarter. We went home.

What puzzles me is the system. First you stand in line to get the ticket, then you stand in line to get through the gate so your ticket is collected. The students use another little gate, which was also jammed.

Many articles and jokes have been written about the Russians standing in line—well! Why not have more gates open—is it against rules? Seems strange in this land of progress and know-how to have this archaic system.

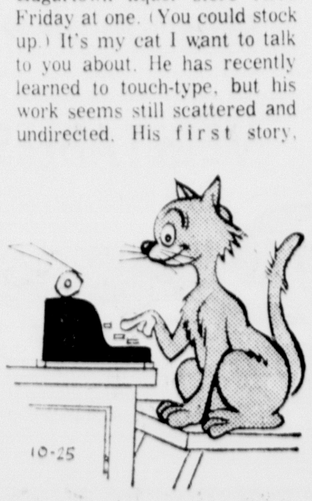
BILL STYRON, author of "Lie Down in Darkness' and "Set This House Afire," doesn't know who it is that's putting him on these days, but this is the note he received up in Martha's Vineyard from a reputed native the other day: "Dear Mr. Styron: I've gathered sufficient courage to ask you if you'll meet me in the Edgartown liquor store this Friday at one. (You could stock up.) It's my cat I want to talk to you about. He has recently learned to touch-type, but his work seems still scattered and undirected. His first story, 'The Naked Fish,' was simply too fragmented to be widely understood—and at this point he seems blocked. Since he admires your writing next to Joseph Conrad, I feel he would be much encouraged to touch the hem of your garment."

I'm told Mr. Styron was sufficiently intrigued to amble into the grog shop at the suggested hour, but that not the vaguest facsimile of a touch-typing feline made any move to touch the hem of his garment.



A VERY conservative Bostonian aproached the proprietor of an inn in New Hampshire and announced, "I'm looking for a girl who doesn't smoke, drink, dance, or play around." Asked the proprietory, obviously taken aback, "Whatever for?"

A NERVOUS driver has tried in vain to get a license in sixteen states. "In North Carolina," he admits, "I was so bad I got four tickets on my written exam."

LBJ Knows Well The History, Busts In Personal Diplomacy

PRESIDENT JOHNSON had good cause to warn Americans not to expect great things from the Manila conference seeking peace in Southeast Asia. Expect neither magic nor miracles, LBJ told the voters.

He might have gone further and suggested that the citizens cross their fingers against calamity. That is no reflection on the President, who is in Manila in a good cause and in high hopes.

It simply reflects the record of personal presidential diplomacy unhappily begun by President Woodrow Wilson at the World War I Versailles peace conference and continued by most of his successors. Personal diplomacy of the Wilson variety usually has been a colossal bust, a failure, frequently a calamity.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT and Winston Churchill made their personal consultations a vital part of strategy to win World War II. The West began to lose the peace when Josef Stalin joined the Yalta Conference. Harry Truman continued FDR's losing trend when he met with Stalin and the British at Potsdam after defeat of Germany.

Dwight D. Eisenhower's unhappy experiences with personal presidential diplomacy will best be remembered for the May 1960, Paris summit which collapsed at its opening session. Premier Nikita Krushchev abused and vilified Ike in angry protest against flights of the American U2 spy plane over the Soviet Union.

KRUSHCHEV WAS more restrained but he was brutally frank in his Vienna meeting with President John F. Kennedy. For the young American President, Vienna was a shattering experience. The record from Wilson through Kennedy is plain and disturbing. When great matters have been in the balance, American presidents have been mismatched in the arena of personal diplomacy.

Johnson's risks at Manila are not so great as were the risks involved in previous presidential experiments in personal diplomacy. There is not much to be either gained or lost at Manila. LBJ will meet with South Viet Nam Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and the representatives of five other states all more or less committed to help suppress armed Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

THE MANILA CONFERENCE should produce more precise agreement than now exists on war aims. Included are such questions as terms to be offered to or accepted from North Viet Nam and shall the Viet Cong be welcomed at peace negotiations? Shall the tempo of the war be raised or lowered? Shall peace be sought by means of expansion or contraction of the air war against North Viet Nam.

In short, where do we go from here?

President Johnson will be the big man at Manila. His Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines are fighting the war. Others contribute more or less but none in proportion to the United States. The U.S. commitment is enormous. This little war has become big.

From 16,500 men on Dec. 31, 1963, American armed forces in Viet Nam had increased by last Oct. 1 to 316,000—with more to come. U.S. land, sea and air resources are stretched.

THIS WOULD appear to tie into global Communist strategy which is to bleed the United States until Western defenses of freedom sag toward impotence. Manila is a way station in the search for an honorable way out of the most unpopular war in which the United States ever engaged.

The choice is narrowing to: Win the war now or get out of it soon.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

U.S., Russ Play Underwater Drama

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — U.S. and Russian undersea warfare experts are playing out a cold-war battle in the Bahamas that goes well beyond the un-underwater spy clashes of a James Bond thriller filmed on location there.

It centers on the U.S. underwater test ground near Nassau, called AUTEC, the Atlantic Undersea Test and Evaluation Center.

Along the north shore of Cuba, somewhat over 100 miles south of AUTEC, Russia has countered by creating her own bases for a fleet of supposed fishing trawlers manned by undersea warfare and oceanographic technicians. About 200 technicians have at least 20 ships in the fleet.

THE U.S. EXPERTS, with headquarters on U.S.-owned Andros Island, conduct top-secret tests of torpedoes, undersea missiles, sonar tracking and underwater communications. This work is compared in importance to missile testing at mainland bases.

Soviet submarines and trawlers enter the AUTEC range area to try to jam U.S. tests and penetrate U.S. defenses. There have been unreported clashes.

SHOWDOWN COMING—Experts agree that a lot of hard facing up to the facts of Peking's growing nuclear power must come as soon as possible after the election.

Time after time the capacity and intentions of the Chinese Communists have been underestimated by President Johnson's chief foreign policy advisers, according to these experts, despite accurate advance information.

The intelligence services have gathered massive information on Communist China and her growing nuclear threat. Agents and U-2 reconnaissance planes have even pinpointed the atomic build-up and installations.

But, as with the advance information in 1962 that Soviet missiles were enroute to Cuba, these intelligence warnings on China's growing nuclear threat, they claim, are not being acted upon.

SOUNDING THE ALERT—Illustrative of this dangerously developing situation is a warning from a responsible CIA agent in Hong Kong.

On Aug. 31, 1966, this agent cabled that the Chinese Red leaders are predicting that, once the main U.S. military forces now in Asia are wiped out, revolutions will break out in all countries of the world.

WHITE HOUSE INSIDE—President Johnson's working habits are a matter of growing concern among his aides and they hope to change them during his Asian trip.

While in the White House, the President's routine usually goes like this: Rises about 5:30 a.m., works until breakfast at 7; goes back to bed and gets up at about 9:30; goes to his office around 10 a.m., generally staying there until about 3 p.m.; after lunch he naps until about 5:30 p.m.; works until 9 or 10 p.m.; has dinner, then reads, confers, makes phone calls until 2:30 a.m., and goes to bed.

President Johnson is saying privately that he plans to appoint Clark Clifford, former White House aide during the Truman administration, to a high government post as soon as his doctor has given the green light. Clifford is still recovering from a severe case of hepatitis contracted on a trip to Viet Nam.

Novato Employee Keeps Working Despite Injuries To Left Hand

WE SEE SO much of, and know so many cases of able-bodied men who are on welfare. We know of cases where parents on welfare have cautioned their high school-age sons not to earn too much money during the summer or they would lose their welfare.

With a situation like that, jobs still go unfilled all over Marin County.

We would like to point out one case just the opposite. That is an employee of the Novato Public Works Department. He received an on the job injury, hurting his left hand while working with a hammer and chisel, according to Lawrence Coleman, director of public works.

THIS EMPLOYEE was eligible to take time off because of the injury. He did not. He knew that there was some work he could do, even though his left hand was incapacitated, Coleman said.

Day after day he could be seen in the islands on Highway 101, pulling the weeds out of the ice plant. It is a job that has to be done by hand, and he had one good hand and was willing to work.

Coleman also reported that he has seen this employee picking up debris from the streets both within and without the city limits on his off hours — just so he can help keep Novato streets clean.

Coleman described him as a loyal and good employee. We must agree that such pride and ambition in his work should be noted. The City of Novato should be proud of an employee like Tom Miller.

THE TRAFFIC around the islands on Highway 101 needs some regulating. Far too many times, cars that want to make a U or left turn on Vallejo or Olive Avenues, turn next to the island. That automatically puts them in the wrong lane for cross traffic.

Someone crossing the highway often finds himself faced with the space between the islands all filed with cars coming directly at him on the wrong side of the street.

It would be a simple matter if the State Division of Highways would paint a center line between the islands and arrows indicating the direction the traffic should go on each side of the line.

Perhaps a suggestion from the city safety committee might turn the trick with the state.

I HAD SEVERAL favorable comments from the women of the county on my wife's suggestion that women's skirts be left unhemmed and then fitted to the individual purchasing it — same as men's pants.

One woman urged me to continue the fight as she was all for the idea.

I really can't see how I could carry on a fight which the women themselves have the best power to wage and win.

One of the best methods of attack in such a campaign would be to refuse to buy dresses which were pre-hemmed and tell the store owners about it. It wouldn't take much of this until the message would get through loud and clear.

IT IS SIMILAR to a campaign which I carried on myself some years back. We were traveling through Nevada and brought bread for lunches which had long plastic wrappers that could be closed again.

These kept the bread fresh so much longer, even in that dry climate. When we returned home, all the local bread was still wrapped in the same old way with the ends being sealed so that when it was opened, it soon dried out.

I took it on myself to tell the store owners and managers about the other type of wrapper which I felt was superior. I said that it was being used elsewhere and was a success. Whenever I saw a bread salesman in the stores, I did the same thing. You can rest assured that some of these suggestions went to the powers that be.

I do not claim to be the one responsible for the change, because probably my voice was only one of many. But in this day of cut-throat competition, store clerks, store owners and managers, and manufacturers are very sensitive to the customer's likes and dislikes.

If only a handful of women carried on such a campaign, I'd wager that it would get results within a matter of months.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Rep. Hubert B. Scudder promised federal assistance for flood control in Tamalpais Valley after a tour of the area including choked Coyote Creek.

Trustees of the $2.5 million William Babcock Memorial Endowment announced the fund would be available to Marin residents suffering catastrophic illness.

Planners Approve New Kennels At Guide Dogs

Marin County Planning Commission yesterday unanimously approved plans for new dog kennels at Guide Dogs for the Blind, 350 Los Ranchitos Road, after an acoustical engineer assured them the noise of barking dogs will not increase.

The kennels, to be located 280 feet from residential property, will house up to 300 dogs. About 170 dogs are housed in the present kennels.

Darrel Fitzroy, a consulting acoustical engineer, said noise level during the day is about 85 decibels. It drops to 50 or 60 decibels each night, he said, but rises to 85 decibels at 4 a.m. one day a week, when garbage men arrive.

"Perhaps one of the efforts toward sound control should be to ask the garbagemen to reschedule their pickups in the area," Fitzroy suggested. He said the noise level will not increase with expansion of the kennels.

Planning commission approval for the expansion was subject to eight conditions, including one requiring a later report from the acoustical engineer recommending sound control measures and again assuring that the noise level will not increase with the expansion. This report is to be submitted before a building permit is issued.

MORRIE RYSKIND

When LBJ Asked Our Prayers, He Forgot About The 'Court'

NO DOUBT President Johnson, heavily laden with the awesome burdens of his office, meant well when, departing for the Far East, he solemnly asked us all to pray for him.

But good intentions are hardly an excuse for our Chief Executive to flout a Supreme Court decision and thus set a dangerous example of lawlessness.

There might be a case for LBJ had he asked us to pray for him as an individual; but here he was clearly invoking our supplications for the commander-in-chief, whose salary is paid by non-believers as well as believers.

And the court — now our principal lawmaking body—has ruled that even a voluntary non-denominational prayer in public schools, supported by public funds, violates the constitutional dictum that church and state must remain separate.

TO TEMPER justice with mercy, one may forgive an underprivileged 6-year-old lawbreaker who, at 10 o'clock recess, defiantly whispers "God is great, God is good, and I thank him for my food" before eating his crackers and milk. He is obviously the product of a faulty environment and, hopefully, Operation Headstart —which will guide youngsters from the age of four, before they have succumbed to parental indoctrination — will undo all that.

But what can be said for a middle-aged President who, in effect, joins hands with a wild-eyed religious fanatic like Sen. Everett Dirksen to urge anarchy upon us? Is such a man really fit to head the Great Society.

True enough, there were times in our antediluvian past when the Supreme Court was not regarded as sacrosanct and its decisions were open to discussion by the laity.

THUS, IN 1805 — long before Robert Welch appeared on the scene — Thomas Jefferson was instrumental in having Justice Samuel Chase impeached, and only four senatorial votes saved the justice from involuntary retirement.

Andrew Jackson thumbed his nose at one court ruling saying disdainly, "They made it — now let them carry it out." And FDR tried to strangle a dissenting court by packing it.

But time marches on apace, and this is 1966. The court is now haloed and its position so strong that not even a President can successfully defy it.

And, unquestionably, there are enough intellectuals who will arise to argue for Johnson's impeachment on the solid ground that his request for our prayers clearly infringes on the First Amendment and puts all of us in jeopardy. Indeed, a full page ad to that effect in the New York Times, signed by professors and preachers and the other professional protesters, can be only a few days away.

THERE WILL BE—to judge by the past—many marches, Berkeley sit-ins and brochures by the American Civil Liberties Union, all demanding impeachment. In Viet Nam, a Buddhist monk will go up in flames to register his disapproval of the President.

Add to that the fact than even at this moment, LBJ is being tried in absentia as a war criminal by such objective jurists as Bertrand Russell, Stokely Carmichael and newsmen from Pravda and the Peking Review. Surely what is known as world opinion will force impeachment.

ONE CAN ONLY speculate how it will turn out. There was another President Johnson who survived impeachment proceedings by only one vote, and this could prove as close, what with progressives of both parties crying out "guilty!" and reactionaries opposed.

The result could hinge on the ballot of Bobby Kennedy, who would be torn between putting his stamp of approval on LBJ or having Hubert Humphrey take over the White House, thus insuring the latter's heading the party ticket in 1968.

Bobby would have to do some mighty tall praying at home—which is still strictly legal, I hasten to point out — before deciding on which horn of the dilemma he would prefer his future chances impaled.

Me? I shall visit the synagogue, which is not supported by public funds, and for the first time pray as I have sometimes voted: For the lesser of two evils. Not that LBJ is my dish of tea, but I dread the alternative even more.

County Building Code Brings Shell Shock

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Builder J. E. Kenney said he was not only confused and embarrassed by the treatment he had received from county forces, but a little "shell shocked as well."

Kenney told county planning commissioners yesterday that he started to build an addition to Dandy Market at El Prado Avenue and Merrydale Road in San Rafael Meadows under requirements laid out earlier by the commission.

Trouble was that when he went to get a building permit, the county building department said there would have to be some changes. Not only would Kenney not be allowed a shake roof, but he would also have to replace the existing shake roof with fireproof shingles.

In addition, Kenney could not use wood on the front of the building, but must use brick or stucco.

After succeeding in lifting the requirement for replacing the existing roof, Kenney went ahead with the building.

County planners noticed it was not coming out according to the plans they had approved and put the matter on yesterday's agenda for review.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said attempts have been made to improve communication between planning and building departments. Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said Kenney made no attempt to go back to the planning department to get the conflict resolved.

"I was sort of in shell shock when I walked out of his (the building inspector's) office," Kenney told the commission. "Besides, I didn't think it was incumbent upon me to carry the ball."

Zucker said it is the developer's responsibility to comply with all codes of the county.

The commission asked that the building department be asked to refer all changes it makes in plans to the planning department.

Zucker said he is trying to get his staff familiar with the building code.

Commissioner Michael Praszker said it would be futile for anyone to try to learn the code. "It would be easier to memorize the encyclopedia."

FCC Asks Check On Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission wants to know how much broadcast time radio and television stations are devoting to advertising.

The commission said yesterday it "does not imply or seek to impose any particular requirement or limitation on the commercial practices of licensees."

But it is the first time the FCC has asked how many minutes per hour are devoted to commercials.

The agency asked broadcasters to justify advertising time in excess of 18 minutes per hour for radio and 16 minutes per hour for television.

Stanford Gunning For Washington '11'

Washington and Stanford, two teams with big plans before the start of the 1966 season, tangle at Palo Alto Saturday, and right now both would settle for just a "decent" year.

Washington brings a 3-3 record to Stanford, the same nark the Indians have turned in after six games. However, the Huskies are 1-2 in Pacific Eight conference play while Stanford is 0-2.

Both coach Jim Owens of Washington and John Ralston of Stanford figure they "need this one bad," and there is every reason to believe they'll play it just that way.

"We haven't beaten the Huskies since 1958," Ralston reminded the Northern California football writers yesterday. "So you can see why we are looking forward to this game. It's really important to us."

Washington publicist John Read, acting as advance man for Owens, said just about the same thing.

"This game means an awful lot to us," said Read. "It could be the difference between a dismal season or a good one."

Both teams are coming off winning efforts. Stanford nipped Illinois last Saturday, 6-3, while Washington fought for its life in a 10-7 victory over Oregon.

"We didn't play very well against Illinois," explained Ralston. "They controlled the ball enough to roll up 313 yards but they had trouble making it into the end zone. We had only one chance to score and we did."

Read explained Washington's victory over Oregon as a "pleasant one for us. Oregon is a than expected.

"Look," said Willsey, "They whipped West Virginia last week while controlling the ball for 104 plays. Any team that can do that has to be a pretty good club regardless of its record."

San Jose State, which gained a lot of acclaim when it beat California 24-0, three weeks ago now finds itself in a spot where coach Harry Anderson will settle for just a plain victory and he doesn't care how he gets it. The Spartans were shut out 25-0 lot tougher than it was at the start of the season. Billy Parker did a fine job as a replacement for Don Moore."

More is through for the season for breaking training rules. Parker, a little wisp at 5-8 and 160 pounds, carried the ball 24 times for 98 yards against the Ducks.

California, which bowed to powerful UCLA, 28-15, last Saturday tracels east to play Penn State this week and coach Ray Willsey thinks the Nittany Lions might prove a whole lot tougher by San Diego State a week ago and 35-0 by Texas Western last Saturday.

"I hope we can snap out of it against Pacific this week," said Anderson without too much hope in his voice.

UOP routed Hawaii, 41-0, last Saturday and appears to have reached a fairly consistent stage in its development under new coach Doug Scovil.

San Jose will go into the game without quarterback Danny Holman, who was injured in the Texas Western loss.

San Francisco State plays Hayward State this week, while Santa Clara, coming off a short vacation in its scheduled travels to Whittier and USF to Azusa in other games involving area schools.

Vic Rowen of S. F. State thinks Hayward may be tougher than the record indicates while Pioneer coach Les Davis calls his team's game with the Gators "our biggest of the year. They should be favored by 35 points."

CERRUDO EVEN PAR IN WORLD GOLF TUNEUPS

San Rafael resident Ron Cerrudo, warming up for the Eisenhower Trophy world team golf matches in Mexico City Thursday, has boldly predicted victory for the four-man United States team of which he is a member.

"With Dean and old Black Magic going for us," Cerrudo was quoted as saying today, "we have to win by 40 shots." He referred to Dean Beman and his hand-made putter which he calls Black Magic.

Beman has scored 67 and 70 over the 7,125-yard, par 72 Club de Golf Mexico in practice this week while Cerrudo has been even par twice. Their teammates are Bob Murphy of Gainesville, Fla. and Downing Gray of Pensacola. They'll vie against amateur quartets from 28 other countries

49ers Rub Salt In Lions Wounds; Show Biz Blood In Chris' Veins

SALTED WOUNDS—It was tough enough losing in the final three seconds to the 49ers Sunday, but the bitterest pill of all for the Lions was that Monty Stickles was the man to beat them. Big Monty will never win any popularity contest in Detroit.

DOES 49ER Coach Jack Christiansen have some show biz blood in his veins? Whenever one of his stalwarts makes a sensational play, Happy Jack removes him from the game for a few plays so the star will be rewarded with a nice ovation upon leaving the field. And the heroes play it to the hilt: Removing helmet and walking slowly to the sidelines with that old "Aw shucks, it was a tough fight, but I won" swagger.

DAVE PARKS, my favorite end, looked like he was really hurtin' Sunday from the back injury sustained the previous week. Let's all send Dave a get well in a hurry card.

BIG KEITH FRASER, the Marin softball-baseball star, almost got knocked on his anny-fay during the wild celebration that followed Stickles' winning TD. Keith was standing on the sidelines in the area where the hysterical 49ers mobbed Stickles.

I DO WISH Mr. Brodie would use a little more imagination on goal to go situations, especially against concrete defensive lines like Detroit's. Early in Sunday's fray football's answer to J. Paul Getty sent his backs crashing fruitlessly into the line on five straight plays, then had to settle for a field goal (ugh!) A sweep or bootleg or any other rinky-dink play couldn't have done any worse. Otherwise, Johnnykins gets a gold star for a well-directed game.

A TRAITOROUS banner in Section LL at Kezar warned: "Alex Will Crush You," referring to Lion roughneck Alex Karras. But our side's Howard Mudd did a nifty job of containing Karras, didn't you think? When the 49ers go back to Detroit let's send a reciprocal banner: "Here's Mudd In Your Eye!"

KEZAR'S HALFTIME shows are getting bigger and better. Sunday was the annual Pom-Pon Girl Rally featuring nearly 600 little rosebuds twisting and twirling all over the joint like an outdoor Ed Sullivan Show. Lots of color, cute choreography and the squeals of the winning teams add up to a lot of good, clean fun.

San Rafael, Terra Linda and Novato high school pom-pon teams were entered Sunday but none won a prize, darnit. I guess you can say they were outmanned, Hm?

ELSEWHERE AROUND the sport circuit . . . San Rafael businessman Al Tognoli, back from an opening day duck hunting trip near Colusa: "Our pond was dry and it was the first opening day in 30 years that I didn't even get one shot," he quacked dryly.

RALPH McCOY, the former military amateur boxing champ from Hamilton Field, meets Chicagoan Joe Nordi Friday night at Richmond Auditorium in a middleweight tenner. McCoy is unbeaten in four pro outings and getting better all the time, reports the Richmond Independent's Gordon Raddue.

I AM DELIGHTED to report to you today that Daley Bolling is a bowler at Nave Lanes, though not daily. He bowls weekly and rather strongly as his recent scores would indicate.

MARIN COUNTRY CLUB'S Golf Carnevale two Sundays ago netted $1,200 to be split three ways ($400 each) to St. Vincent's School for Boys, Neurologically Handicapped and Orphans of Italy. Congratulations to the garlic-snapping golfers for their winederful contribution.

LSU GRID FIX CASE

Two More 'Bribe' Arrests

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The FBI has made two more arrests in its probe of alleged attempts to bribe Louisiana State University football players.

Joseph Lee Nolan, 26, and Samuel F. Comeaux, 25, both of Baton Rouge, were charged yesterday by the FBI with trying to influence by bribery the outcome of six LSU games this season.

Last week the FBI arrested 26-year-old Samuel J. Graziano, a barber, on charges he tried to influence the outcome of LSU games by attempting to bribe three players — starters Billy Masters, Gawain DiBetta and Jim Dousay.

Nolan, dressed in a blue suit, sat in the courthouse for about two hours waiting for his attorney to arrive to post $10,000 bond. He refused to talk to newsmen.

The FBI said Nolan previously held a federal gambling stamp but declined to give out further information.

Court records showed that Nolan is a younger brother of Eugene Nolan, recently convicted in Houston, Tex., on an interstate gambling charge. Eugene Nolan also faces a similar federal charge in Los Angeles.

Comeaux surrendered several hours later after he called the U.S. Marshal's office and said he didn't want to be picked up by FBI agents.

When Graziano was arrested, Charlie McClendon, the LSU head football coach, said that Dousay, Masters and DiBetta had been cooperating with the FBI for more than a year.

Bond for Comeaux and Graziano was fixed at $5,000 each. U.S. Atty. Louis LaCour ordered Nolan's bond set at $10,000 because he had no fixed address.

Decision Due Soon On New NFL City; Seattle, Cincy, New Orleans Studied

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—All three candidates for the 1967 National Football League franchise — Cincinnati, New Orleans and Seattle—are still in the running, league Commissioner Pete Rozelle says.

"A decision is to be made shortly on the NFL team to be selected to play in 1967," Rozelle told a news conference last night, indicating that the existence of playing facilities will play a big part in any decision.

Rozelle visited Cincinnati on a tour of the main contenders for the franchise. He was accompanied by Dan Reeves, owner of the NFL Los Angeles Rams and Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League. The three will visit New Orleans and Seattle later.

The two leagues are merging and Rozelle said a joint committee will soon have to decide on awarding franchises. He refused to make any predictions as to how he expects the decision to go.

Cincinnati has been counting on a large riverfront stadium as the bait to lure a franchise here for 1967. An architectural firm is drawing up stadium plans, but the way it will be financed is still unsettled. The football team would share the stadium with the Cincinnati Reds baseball team.

Commenting on the prospects of the three cities, Rozelle said all have approximately the same weather conditions for football, but that Cincinnati is in the most populous area.

Rozelle also said he will take a look at two possible temporary stadiums — the Reds' home at Crosley Field and Nippert Stadium at the University of Cincinnati.

Two other cities, Portland, Ore. and Phoenix, Ariz., also have been mentioned as possible candidates for teams. Rozelle said both had great sports interests, but it was unlikely either would soon have a stadium of the necessary size.

CONFUSION CONTINUES TO MOUNT

Ortiz-Ramos Rematch Slated Jan. 29

Sounds confusing? It is.

The World Boxing Council declared the title vacant last night, the latest development in the Saturday night fiasco in which the referee had one winner and the WBC another.

Ortiz, of Puerto Rico, who won the title in 1962, was given a technical knockout by referee Billy Conn because challenger Ultiminio (Sugar) Ramos had a badly cut left eye.

The crowd went wild, almost rioted until Ramon Velazquez, executive secretary of the WBC, reversed the decision and declared Ramos — a Mexico City resident — the champion because Ortiz refused to start the fight anew.

Everyone got together for a bit of negotiation-by-press conference at a gymnasium last night with these results:

1. The title, as far as the WBC is concerned, is vacant.

2. Ortiz will meet Ramos in the same ring Jan. 29 to determine the champion.

3. Ortiz and his manager, Bill Daly, were suspended for one year and fined $400 each by the boxing commission of the state of Mexico. The El Toreo bull ring, where the fight was held, is in the state of Mexico just outside the Mexico City limits.

4. Velazquez and the president of the state commission, Fernando Aldape Barrera, shouted at each other angrily because the WBC doesn't think anyone should be fined.

5. The Boxing Writers Assn. of Mexico City offered to pay the fines.

6. Velazquez would not release Ortiz' purse until he signed a contract for the Jan. 29 fight.

7. The contract was written without consulting Ortiz or his manager.

8. Ramos, in the WBC's eyes, won the title fight but is not champion.

Daly, who was calling Mexican fight fans "savages" and "animals" after they bloodied his head and kicked him in the ribs as he tried to get Ortiz to the safety of the dressing room in the post-fight melee, was a little kinder at the press conference.

"We love Mexico and we are willing to fight here for the title any time. Just so it's the last

Big Prep Battle Slated Saturday

By RALPH CHATOIAN

They're looking forward to a mighty big crowd next Saturday when Terra Linda High School's Trojans take on the Drake Pirates on the San Rafael High School field.

Jeff Thorner, dean of activities at Terra Linda, announced yesterday that advance ticket sales are going on both at his school and at Drake.

"We expect a big crowd and don't want another episode like that last one," said Thorner, referring to the crowd that jammed the tiny entrance gates at the San Rafael field when Terra Linda played San Rafael High School.

"We are encouraging people to buy their tickets early," Thorner said. That game will start at 2 p.m.

He has a point, since Terra Linda outdraws the other Marin Athletic Schools in attendance even when the team is losing. But the Trojans this year are doing very little of that. They're winning, and winning big.

GREAT DEFENSE

They haven't been scored upon since Sept. 23, when they beat Ukiah 12-6. Since that time, the Trojans have blanked Marin Catholic, 13-0, Redwood 13-0, San Rafael 27-0, and El Camino 33-0. Their season record is 5-1, and league mark is 3-0.

After Terra Linda's latest victory over El Camino in South San Francisco last Friday, coach Brad Squires again cited his defensive team in general, and Tom Heacox and Jim Sherbert in particular.

Squires said his boys are aware of their shutout string. "They didn't want them (El Camino) to score when they got down close in the last period. My first string boys asked to be put back in the game."

BEST ATTACK

Squires said it was Terra Linda's best offensive game "but El Camino wasn't nearly the same caliber of team as San Rafael."

After Drake's 32-19 triumph over San Rafael last Friday, Pirates coach Bob Franceschini declared "We're still fighting; we're in it."

He was talking about the Marin Athletic League standings and fight for the title. And the Pirates are in it. With only one loss (to Tam) against two wins, Drake is in the thick of the race.

NO INJURIES

Drake came out of the San Rafael game without any injuries. San Rafael started that game with a long touchdown play on a Bill Joost pass to Sam Crowell and Bulldog fans thought they might have a winner.

"We told the boys to expect that but I guess they didn't remember. I like the way they came back after that," Franceschini said. "We were able to apply pressure on the quarterback. It was our best job of pass defending this year. That rush made the difference."

Franceschini said he realized San Rafael had some injuries or the game would have been closer.

TAM VS. REDWOOD

Tam, tied with Terra Linda for the league lead, will be coming off a 45-6 triumph over Marin Catholic when the Indians take on the Redwood Giants Saturday at 8 p.m. at Kentfield Stadium. Yesterday's MCAL schedule, putting the game at 1:30 p.m. was incorrect.

Tamalpais coach Willie Hector is just a little leery about Redwood, but he figures his Indians will be hungry for a king-sized scalp.

"We've only beaten them once in eight years," he said, "and they just might want to make up for this season by trying to win the district trophy."

The district trophy is awarded to the team with the best record among Tamalpais, Drake and Redwood. Redwood still has a league contest with Drake to go.

"We took a while to get going in that first half," he said. "But we looked a lot better in the second half. And it proved what I've been saying about our balanced attack."

PRO GRID NOTES AND QUOTES

Pasadena 'Cinch' To Get Super Bowl

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — The Super Bowl game, the first meeting between the champions of the National and American football leagues, almost certainly will be played in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

Despite the fact the National League is investigating three cities—New Orleans, La., Seattle, Wash., and Cincinnati — for its next expansion franchise, the betting is that the Louisiana city becomes NFL territory for the 1967 season.

QUOTE OF the week: Bob Pellegrini, one of the Miami Dolphins' assistant coaches was discussing the pass-catching abilities of two rookies, Bob Bruggers of Minnesota and Howard Twilley of Tulsa, and noted that his idea of a lifetime game would match the two.

THE DOLPHINS, by beating Houston 20-13 Sunday, became the first expansion club in either league to win two straight games this first season. . . Joe Namath, the New York Jets' quarterback, scored the first two touchdowns of his pro career against Oakland but also was nailed for a loss while passing for the first time this season. . . The guy who got Namath was Dan Birdwell, the Raiders' defensive tackle. . . The Kansas City Chiefs just missed two records while amassing 614 yards and 56 points against Denver, falling 20 yards short of the yardage record set by Oakland against the Broncos two years ago and three points short of the point record they Denver in 1963. . .

JIM NANCE, the Patriots' fullback, is one of the major reasons Bostonians are again clamoring for tickets. But Nance almost lost any chance ha had for a football career when he was only five years old.

"We had one of those old stoves in our house," Nance recalls. "My brother was boiling some hot water. When he tried to move it from the stove to the sink, I reached up and pulled his arm."

"Some of the water hit my head," Nance continued, "and the doctors told me that if it had hit my eyes, I would have been blinded. And my left shoulder was burned so badly, they thought it wouldn't grow normally."

HANLEY

It will be interesting to see how the National and American Football Leagues, now partners in a shotgun marriage, use the limited anti-trust immunity bestowed on them by Congress.

Press association dispatches from Washington carefully pointed out the immunity applies only to merger of the two leagues, not methods of player selection or television coverage.

Yet the same dispatches reported that this year's player draft will be a combined affair and Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York, chief opponent of the new legislation, said. "Even now league owners are making preparations to relegate the so-called world championship game to Pay-TV."

IT'S KIND of confusing so there's only one thing to do. Wait and see.

Maybe individual players are not in a financial position to challenge and abuse of the newly bestowed immunity if such abuse did occur. But CBS and NBC are a couple of well heeled outfits that would tolerate no hanky panky with Pay-TV.

CBS PRESENTLY has the exclusive TV rights to NFL games. NBC does the exclusive TV work on AFL games. Will both cover the world championship game in January, 1967, between the NFL and AFL title winners? Or will they engage in another multi-million dollar blue chip battle for exclusive TV rights? Or will Pay-TV actually come into the picture as Celler says?

PRO FOOTBALL'S commissioner Pete Rozelle is going to earn every penny of his salary if he solves the problem to the satisfaction of everybody.

Regardless of any Solomon-like solutions by Rozelle, it is very doubtful that he will be able to satisfy a number of unhappy veterans who missed the opportunity of a lifetime just before the merger of the two leagues.

HOWEVER, JOHN BRODIE needs no solace from Rozelle. Honest John got his when both leagues were raiding each other for established talent. Brodie capitalized on the raiding at its height.

The 49er quarterback never has disclosed the details of his talks with the Houston Oilers. But he was so happy over the outcome of them that he took a prolonged Hawaii vacation with his family.

HE FINALLY came back to the mainland and the 49er fold after his attorney negotiated a settlement reported to be $750,000.

While other pro football veterans were expressing displeasure about congressional approval of the merger because it limited their bargaining powers, Brodie said:

Basketball Faces Olympics Ouster

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Unless basketball cleans its skirts, it may be tossed out of the Olympic program.

Avery Brundage, the president of the International Olympic Committee, didn't say so but he gave some broad hints at the end of the IOC meetings here over the weekend.

"We are not pleased with the irregularities in basketball in many countries," Brundage told a press conference yesterday. He added that the United States was among the choice offenders.

The IOC chief was asked to clarify what he meant by "irregularities."

"The sport is over commercialized," he said. "In many places, it is conducted in a way that is adverse to the Olympic amateur code."

Basketball is on the 1968 Olympic program in Mexico City and it will stay there, Brundage said. He refused to comment on what might happen after that.

The IOC executive said the committee was confident that Mexico City organiers would complete all facilities and make all the necessary preparations for the mammoth festival.

"We have seen their plans and timetables," he added. "We are sure they are doing the job."

He said the IOC didn't expect Mexico City to match Japan's $3 billion expenditures for the 1964 games.

"We don't want this to become a big money race," he said. "We want the Mexicans to organzie the Olympics in Mexican fashion. We don't want them to try to copy Tokyo, Rome or anyone else."

Brundage said the political problems surrounding the German situation had been ironed out and he expected no difficulties in 1968. There will be two teams — Germany and East Germany — and one flag bearing the Olympic emblem.

He said also that he planned to send a delegation to South Africa early next year to check whether the government's policies had changed enough to permit readmission of the South Africans to the Games.

The South Africans were barred at Tokyo because the IOC said South Africa's government policies (apertheid) did not permit the South African Olympic Committee to work within the framework of the Olympic spirit.

Tar Water Polo Team Triumphs

Ferran Bini strung together six goals for the Tars. He was followed by Dennis Good with five goals, Bill Kennedy with two and Bruce Stock with one.

Notre Dame Ace End Hurt, Out For Week Or Two

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Jim Seymour, Notre Dame's surprising sophomore end who has caught 34 passes for 675 yards, has been sidelined for one and possibly two weeks because of an injury in the Irish 38-0 victory over Oklahoma Saturday.

The 6-foot-4, 205-pounder suffered a badly sprained ankle and instep after being tackled during a pass reception attempt in the second quarter. He didn't return to the game and his foot was placed in a pressure bag.

Seymour has been the favorite target of quarterback Terry Hanratty and has caught five touchdown passes in Notre Dame's unbeaten sweep to the top of the nation's college football ladder.

He will miss Notre Dame's game Saturday against Navy at Philadelphia and possibly the match with Pittsburgh at South Bend.

Ortiz-Ramos Rematch In Mexico City

week in January," Daly said.

Pancho Rosales, Ramos' manager, agreed but he had a stipulation.

"My proposal is that Ortiz fight no one before he fights Ramos again," he said.

A title fight between Ortiz and Elorde has been announced for Nov. 28 in Madison Square Garden.

"That fight is no more made than a fight between Cassius Clay and Carlos," Daly said. "It's ridiculous."

"Some people say I made a mistake when I gave the title to Ramos Saturday night," Velazquez said. "I accept that. Now that things are calmer and we've had a chance to talk, Luis Spota, president of the World Council, and I agreed the title should be declared vacant."

Daly, who still had a big bandage on the back of his head, said he was willing to accept the fines imposed by the State Boxing Commission if he could take responsibility for Ortiz' fine also.

"I made Carlos leave the ring," Daly said. "He wanted to stay in there because he wasn't afraid of Ramos and he had him hurt."

"We're not mad at the World Boxing Council or the Commission of the state of Mexico," Daly said. "The only persons we are mad at is that doctor."

He referred to Dr. Gilberto Bolanos Cacho, who has said he told Conn the fight could continue because the cut was not serious. Conn said the doctor told him to stop it.

The Giants of Larkspur will have to be thinking upset when they tackle the Indians of Mill Valley, for Tam seems to be getting stronger every game.

"We'll have to put on a good pass rush," said Redwood coach Bob Troppmann. "We can't let (Steve) Woodward throw the ball." He reported offensive backs Ken Johnson and Ray Biagini and end Dave Otteson were hurt in the Novato game last Saturday, Johnson and Otteson on the first play of the game. Redwood lost that one, 6-0, as its record fell to 1-2 in league and 1-5 overall.

BEST RUNNERS

"When your best runners get hurt you're in trouble," Tropp said about the injuries. At 100 per cent strength, Redwood would be in deep water against Tam, and with injuries, it could be really bad.

The other league game on tap this week will be Novato at San Rafael High, Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Last week San Rafael was still in the thick of the title scramble, but its loss to Drake put the Bulldogs at 2-2 making everything from here uphill.

"Our defense wasn't ready to play until the last quarter," San Rafael mentor Bob Muster said. "We missed (Frank) Pandiani in there. He's a talker and gets them fired up." Muster said about the offensive halfback and defensive end who sat out the game with injuries.

COSTLY LOSS

"That defeat hurt us. We're pretty much out of it now," he admitted.

Novato's first league win after two losses was a hard fought one, with the game's only touchdown coming in the final quarter. Star for Novato was Pat Dougherty who intercepted three of five Novato thefts.

Gilstrap Wins Golf Tournament

Members of the host club swept all four top prizes in the San Geronimo Valley Lions Club's first Lions Invitational Golf Tournament at the San Geronimo National Course yesterday.

Vern Gilstrap of Woodacre, sales manager for a San Rafael electronics firm, fired two-under par 70 for low gross honors and also won a special driving contest with a mighty 293-yard tee shot. He plays to a two handicap.

Gene DiBasilio won low net with a 62 and Brook Robinson captured the hole-in-one contest when his tee shot on the 179-yard 16th hole landed three and one-half feet from the cup.

Del Rice Named To Cleveland Staff

CLEVELAND (AP)—Del Rice, who served as a coach for the California Angels when Joe Adcock was a player, has been named by Adcock as a coach for the Cleveland Indians.

Adcock, the new Indians manager, hired Rice yesterday. Rice, 44, had been an Angel coach for five years before he was released last month.

Tomales Wins On A Safety

A safety with less than two minutes in the game gave Tomales High School an 8-7 victory over Piner High School's football team Friday afternoon in Santa Rosa.

After Piner had gone ahead 7-0 in the second quarter, Tomales made it 7-6 in the third quarter when it drove 44 yards in eight plays, Tom Mazzoni scoring the touchdown on a one-yard plunge.

Bruin Farr Is Back Of Week

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—UCLA senior halfback Mel Farr, runner, blocker and pass receiver, is Pacific-8 back-of-the-week for his performance in UCLA's 28-15 victory over California at Berkeley last Saturday.

Farr scored two touchdowns, one on a 20-yard run and the other on a received pass.

Farr gained 70 yards on 10 carries and caught two passes for 29 yards.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Better-Than-Average Opening Of Waterfowl Season Reported

STEVENS

That sharp rattling sound heard over much of Northern and Central California was not a machine gun shooting at the enemy; it was merely a few thousand waterfowlers venting their spleen on flying targets in the air.

That reminds all shotgun shooters to aim only at birds in the air, NOT at sitting ducks unless they had just come in to mingle with the decoys.

The Department of Fish and Game issued a warning that unless ducks were taken "on the wing" there is a grave danger of killing a sick bird. The rash of botulism has hit a high level. Of course the disease is not dangerous to man, but it's better to play safe and stick to wing shooting. Much more sporting, too.

APPARENTLY THE local duck hunting started off with a better-than-usual average. One report, from Alice Quan at China Camp, relayed the information that Henry Quan, with his wife Mary-Ann, took 7 birds (Bluies). Mrs. Edding of Buck's Landing reported results quite good for the few duck hunters working from her place. "Boats came in with from 5 to 7 ducks. One boat had 2 canvasbacks, another had one, and one showed 3 canvasbacks." The fact that canvasbacks are legal prey this year is good news.

AS FOR your chances to bag a limit or near-limit of ducks or geese, they should be better than for several years past. Certainly the birds are here. Four units of the federal waterfowl management areas were subjected to a duck census and the result should please one and all. Last year, the same check showed a count of 297,500, this year's count showed a population on the four areas, Delevan, Sacramento, Sutter and Colusa, of 455,000 ducks. What more can one ask— 157,500 more ducks to shoot at.

FOR THE guy or gal who prefers the rod to the gun, there has been an overall increase in the take of ocean salmon as well as salmon and steelheads in the upper Sacramento River and tributaries. Alice Quan reported one boat with a lone rodman came in at 11 a.m. with a nice trio of stripers weighing from 12 to 18 pounds. From Buck's Landing came word that most boats coming in on Saturday had fish, not all limits, of course, but a fair average per boat with good-sized fish. Let's call fishing fair in the lower San Pablo Bay. But, by the same rating, let's call bass fishing good to excellent in certain other locales.

HAL BOENNER of Lee Anderson Bait Shop in Oakland reported angler Sal Fazio and son taking limits to 8 pounds near the Berkeley Pier on hardware; the Cherokee unloaded 5 limits to 17 pounds in the Red Rock area, and the Duke No. 2 boated six bass from 14 to 17 pounds near Buoy 5. Hal also reported the Sea Horse netting 22, 23 and 25-pound salmon in the Duxbury region; the Wilma H too 11 salmon off Muir Beach, and the Chinook brought in 8 salmon off Muir Beach. Not exactly hot trolling but certainly not poor, either. Upstream on the Sacramento River both salmon and steelhead are active.

Salmon, Steelhead Season To Open In Marin Nov. 1

The fall-winter salmon and steelhead fishing season will open Nov. 1 in the tidewaters of the state and run through Feb. 28, the California Department of Fish and Game reported today.

There are many special regulations and closures for this season, the DFG said, and advised sport fishermen to consult the 1966 angling regulations booklet for details. Copies are available free wherever fishing licenses are sold.

Salmon and steelhead fishing is permissible any day of the week in tidewaters of the countiez of Marin, Del Norte, Humboldt, Mendocino, Napa, San Mateo, San Luis Obispo, and Sonoma.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

Composer Johann Strauss, the "Waltz King", was born on this day in 1825.

On this day in history:

In 1854, in the "Charge of the Light Brigade" 670 men of the English light calvary in the Crimean War charged a heavily fortified Russia artillery post and were wiped out.

In 1936, the governments of Germany and Italy formed the "Rome-Berlin" axis.

In 1962, the U.S. blocking arms shipments to Cuba, stopped a Soviet vessel containing oil but then let it continue.

In 1963, the government of the Dominican Republic was toppled in a bloodless coup.

QUEEN OPENING

Declarer drew two rounds of trumps with the king and ace, followed by a club to the ace and another back to the king.

TRUMP FORCED

East still had a trump for the setting trick.

South pounced on her partner. "You told me the odds were more than 2 to 1 against a 4-1 break.

They must be 10 to 1 against the break I just got. Why do you hide the truth from me?"

SCRAMBLES OUT

North might have pointed out that South should draw only one round of trumps, with dummy's king. Then she takes two top clubs and ruffs a club.

TRUMP LEFT

East discards, but dummy still has a trump to lead to the South hand. Declarer takes the ace and queen of trumps and then leads clubs until East uses up his last trump.

South makes the rest with her own last trump and good clubs.

Why didn't North say so? I was North, and I've been married too long to go looking for trouble.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four spades.

This shows strong trump support (usually five cards), a singleton or void in a side suit, and not more than 9 points in high cards.

People Walk Over Lethal Old Mines

KNOKKE, Belgium (UPI) — Belgian army engineers have removed four German World War II anti-tank mines in a wood near this popular seaside resort.

The engineers figure that hundreds of thousands of persons must have walked over the lethal weapons, each containing seven pounds of TNT, since they were buried.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Specialists Deal In Selected Stocks

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I read recently that the 'specialists' are in a good position. Who are these specialists?" J. A.

A. They are special broker-dealers on the floor of the exchange executing orders for other brokers and trading for their own accounts. They do not buy and sell for individual investors. They deal exclusively in a few selected stocks—actively traded issues—to which they have been assigned. In practice, they build up inventories in these shares, buying for their own account if the market is falling. When the market reverses itself and buy orders exceed sell orders, they are usually able to fill these from their inventories.

If in normal trading too wide a gap should develop between bid and ask prices, they trade on their own account to maintain an orderly market. They are men of substantial means, approved for their work by the exchange only if they can personally finance sizable inventories should the need arise. They must also be men of sound judgment—skilled and experienced traders. If you have ever wondered who buys all the stock released in a sharp, broad decline, the specialists are there to absorb a considerable portion of the liquidation.

Q. "A widow, I would like your advice on buying some stocks while I can get as much as seven per cent on my money. I'm interested only in a safe, substantial return."
E. S., M. N.

A. It is time to start shopping for bargains in quality stocks even though the market might drop again. To utilize a reasonable buying range is smarter than to wait for an exact point derived from technical calculations. You are correct in thinking your capital can be put to work around seven per cent in relatively safe situations. Here are some diversified suggestions for your consideration: Armco Steel, Commercial Credit, General Motors (if year-end extra is paid), Dana Corp., Norfolk & Western, Southern Rwy., Phelps Dodge, St. Joseph Lead, Stone & Webster, Tenneco.

Greyhound Tells Record Income

CHICAGO — Greyhound Corp. earnings and revenues reached record levels for the third quarter and nine months ended Sept. 30.

Earnings and revenues for the quarter each increased 14 per cent; net income advanced more than 8 per cent on a nine month revenue increase of 7 per cent, a total of $21,257,659 on revenues of $180,130,246 for the third quarter of 1966.

This equals 68 cents a common share as compared to 60 cents a share earned a year earlier.

Coast Newsprint Price To Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — MacMillan, Bloedel Ltd., a major western Canadian newsprint producer, has announced an increase of $3 per ton in newsprint prices for the West Coast and western Canada.

Several producers for western markets have said they will boost prices by $4 per ton effective Jan. 1.

Prices Rally As Market Shuts Active

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed today with prices rallying and trading more active than earlier.

The market wiped out an early decline when losses outnumbered gainers by a ratio of 2-to-1. This had been reduced to about an even-steven basis or better in late dealings.

IBM gained a couple of points and Xerox around 5.

The industrial average managed to cancel all of its initial decline and move into plus territory, but on an over-all basis the market showed a slight loss based on other averages.

Improvement in blue chips, which provided early encouragement, spread somewhat as the session wore on although there were still plenty of losers, among them airlines, electronics, rails, motors and electrical equipments.

Emery Air Freight lost about 3½, Superior Oil and Northwest Airlines about 2 each.

SCM Corp., down nearly a point, looked like the volume leader. It traded on an early block of 50,000 shares.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Another Bourbon Shop Opens; New Delicatessen On Scene

Another Bourbon Shop has been opened by Arthur J. Pappas of Greenbrae and Jack Horn (now living in Newport Beach)—this one at 5641 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera. That is in the Paradise Shopping Center.

This is the fifth of the Bourbon Shops that started in 1959 with the store in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael, still in operation. Others are located in Marinwood, Northgate and San Francisco.

A grand opening sale will be observed by all the stores Nov. 1-13.

A NEW DELICATESSEN will appear on the Belvedere Boardwalk about the 10th or 15th of next month. This is another project of Sil and Corinne Petrini of San Rafael, who have signed a lease for 900 square feet with the Belvedere Land Co.

The Petrinis formerly had Kountry Kitchen Delicatessen and Meats in the Northgate Shopping Center, sold that—and not long ago opened a store in the Lee Bros. Value World at Pleasant Hill. They have a lease to open another store in Orinda, and are in line to establish others in new Value World locations as they are developed.

The Belvedere Boardwalk store will be known as Petrini's Gourmet, operating strictly as a delicatessen and specializing in home-cooked foods. The Petrinis are continuing to live in Marin and say that commuting to their other stores presents no problem.

NEW ICE CREAM AND CANDY stores of Shaw's of San Francisco have appeared at 1694 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon and 1110 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur. They will hold their combined grand opening starting next Friday. Franchise holders are John Running in Tiburon and Joseph Morena in Larkspur.

Cable car rides on Saturday at Larkspur and Sunday at Tiburon, along with clown acts for the youngsters will be among the grand opening features.

KLEIN'S TV now has its San Rafael store at 915 Lootens Place. The facility at 8 Francisco Boulevard is maintained as a workshop.

GILBERT BYERS of Novato is new interior decorator at Braverman's Home Furnishers in San Anselmo. He has given up his independent operation in Novato, but retains his residence there.

Byers has been in the county about 12 years and originally opened a place of his own on Fourth Street, San Rafael. Later he moved out to the Professional Parkway and subsequently to Novato.

NEW TENANTS in the recently completed Sequoia Professional Center at 1730 Novato Boulevard, Novato are: Optometrist Dr. Steven Bates, who has been at 1213 Grant Avenue; North Marin Dental Laboratory (Ralph Nattress)—from 863 Grant Avenue; and Dr. William Heisler, dentist — from 55 San Carlos Way, Novato.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mrs. Wynne Bowyer who is observing her fifth anniversary at Nancy's Carriage House in downtown San Rafael. For a change—may her next 12 months be free from fire, flood or wind.

ROBERT D. SLATE of Greenbrae has been appointed vice president of Jann and Kelley, newspaper representatives. As manager of the San Francisco office, he also covers the Los Angeles area. He has been five years with the company, which covers 48 papers throughout the county.

MANAGEMENT CONSULTANT Jack H. Feller Jr. of San Rafael has scheduled lectures at fall seminars in Santa Rosa, Tulare, Monterey, Palo Alto and Vallejo.

Burtons To Take Part In Benefit On Radio, TV

LONDON (AP) — Two Welsh show business personalities announced plans yesterday for a benefit show for the Aberfan, Wales, disaster fund.

It will be filmed for color and black and white television before a paying audience and the film will be sold for television throughout the world with all proceeds going to the fund.

Troops Occupy Bogota Campus

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Army troops occupied the National University campus yesterday night after clashing with 200 student demonstrators who hurled stones and insults at President Carlos Lleras Restrepo and U.S. financier John D. Rockefeller III.

Neither Lleras nor Rockefeller was hurt, but a presidential aide and a Colombian newsman were slightly injured.

Stamps Needed To Send Clothes To War Victims

More than 900 pounds of clothing has been collected by a group of Marin County women who are undertaking their own brand of aid to victims of the war in Viet Nam.

But the clothing is stranded in Mill Valley as the nine women seek to raise over $40 needed to send it overseas by parcel post.

"The large amount of clothing is more than we ever expected, otherwise we would have chipped in and paid the postage ourselves," said one of the group, Mrs. Margaret Goodyear of 28 LaVerne Avenue, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Goodyear and Margaret Maloney of Larkspur were behind the aid idea when it was started a few weeks ago.

They decided to help when they heard of a civil action program of Advisory Team 34 with the Vietnamese National Military Academy in Dalat, Yuyen-Duc Province.

Ocean Rower Back At Home

ORLEANS, Mass. (AP) — British paratrooper Sgt. Chay Blyth, 26, who successfully rowed the Atlantic last summer with fellow paratrooper Capt. John Ridgway, returned yesterday to Orleans, near where they began their 92-day trek to Ireland.

Blyth let his wife, Maureen, row him around Orleans harbor. He termed the transatlantic trip "a wonderful experience," but added: "If I knew what I know now, well, I'd do it the first time but not a second time."

U.S. Comptroller To Retire Soon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — James J. Saxon, comptroller of currency, said yesterday he plans to return to private life at the expiration of his five-year term Nov. 15.

He was here to address the American Bankers Assn. He was suffering a severe attack of laryngitis.

Group Dedicated To Save Old, Outdated Streetcars

RIO VISTA (UPI) — While San Francisco Bay Area counties are busily building a rapid transit system designed as the "world's most modern," a group of men is just as determined to preserve the "world's most antiquated."

The largest museum is in Kennebunkport, Maine. It has almost 100 cars and last year drew 30,000 visitors who rode around on the museum's mile-and-a-half track.

Buses and the rapid transit will soon make the streetcar and electric train a thing of the past. San Francisco's five street car lines are the only ones currently operating in the Bay Area.

The muesum has 40 pieces of rolling stock in various stages of preservation.

David Dahlgren, 24, of San Francisco, the club's vice president, said the 185-member club built the museum's third-of-a-mile long track and strung trolley wires and are now feverishly restoring cars before the museum opens to visitors in September.

"We're just like kids with model trains," Dahlgren said. "I know people who have put thousands of dollars into model trains when with the same kind of money you can have the real thing."

Exhaust Color Can Warn Of Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — When your exhaust smoke is bluish, gray or black—color it trouble.

A bluish or gray smoke could mean an excess of oil is getting past the piston rings, according to the National Automobile Club. Black smoke means too much gasoline in the mixture.

First Country Airport

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) —Kern County, Calif., became the first county in the United States to own an airport in 1927 when it purchased Meadows Field near Bakersfield.

NO LONGER FLOOD AREA—Residents of San Antonio, Tex., have tamed their famous old river. River banks are dotted with open-air restaurants. It's all part of a flood control and beauty drive.

Ideal Motel Guests: Boy Scout Troops

The maids were perplexed recently when they found two dozen rooms all tidied up, and the beds made, after their occupants of the night before had departed. Then they learned the occupants were a troop of Boy Scouts and their leaders en route home to Des Moines, Iowa, after a visit to New York City. The boys, trained to make their own beds and clean their rooms, apparently had taken it for granted they should perform these chores at a motel, too.

Yankee On Campus? Gen. Lee Tree Cut

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — There's a Yankee on the campus at the University of South Carolina.

San Antonio, Tex., Tames Its River Into Beauty Area

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — There was a time when the San Antonio River fattened on spring rains and raged in periodic floods through the downtown of this old city.

There was a time when its drunken bend through town was the back alley and often the garbage dumping ground of many businesses.

Not any more

Now the charming old river threads its way through restaurants and past dance floors, gently lighted and with its angles and turns softened by countless shrubs and plants. Mexican mariachi bands can be heard around its curves or Dixieland at a restaurant under the stars.

Thousands of people who would not have given the river a second glance years back are lingering long enough for a meal or a leisurely stroll along the riverside.

The change in the river's character has not been a sudden thing but has been wrought in stages.

In the 1920s, a flood control project brought the Olmos dam and flood gates that cut the downtown horseshoe bend from the main stream. In the '30s, a beautification drive brought lighting, retaining walls, walks, and some landscaping.

A generation later came the river's new look A study was completed that pointed the way to a more festive look to the San Antonio River. The plans revolved about some volunteers, some men with vision, and many businessmen willing to go along to turn the river into a year-round tourist draw and an asset to the downtown.

The main groups of the past five years whose imagination and work created the new look were the River Walk Commission, the Paso del Rio Project Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and the Paseo del Rio Association.

Some businesses which once used the river as their back door, their refuse heap or their alley have given way to restaurants or specialty shops that consider the river a thing to be beautified, to be made their best asset. They include restaurants, curio shops, an antique shop and others.

Shrubs and flowers were planted and walks were renovated. Bridges were beautified and then lighted for safety. The riverbed itself was cleared and is periodically flushed out to keep the water's languid flow from stagnating.

A walk along the riverbend still shows some businesses that have yet to catch the spirit. But San Antonio has found the way to turn a flood threat into a downtown beauty spot and will not be satisfied until all the shop owners are in on it.

Stamps Will Use New Ink Process

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Special phosphors heretofore used principally in color television tubes will become an element in the production of luminous ink for U.S. postage stamps in the near future.

Tests over the past three years with more than 30 million stamps show that tagging stamps with the special luminous ink will permit automatic facing and cancellation of mail, according to Molybdenum Corporation of America, basic phosphor producer.

IN GREAT BRITAIN

Next Trip: Try The Stately Homes

LONDON (UPI) —For American tourists only: dinner, bed and breakfast in a stately home.

This is the new twist to the stately home business in Britain, where crippling estate taxation has forced many an ancient family to great lengths to preserve their houses and castles in the way their forefathers kept them.

Hundreds open their homes to the stares of paying visitors. Some offer added attractions. The marquess of Bath has lions wandering around his estate. The duke of Bedford has sat down to lunch behind a roped enclosure where tourists could "see his grace eat" for a small fee.

Now a London travel agency has started arranging for Americans to stay a night or so in some of the castles, historic mansions and typical farm houses of Britain.

The idea behind the project, says the agency, is that "to see and know another country means entering the homes of its people, making friends among them, and joining in their family life."

It all began with an advertisement in the personal column of the London Times saying: "Country home owners are invited to join a plan for entertaining overseas visitors, mainly Americans."

Between 150 and 160 owners responded, including 13 with castles and several with ghosts.

They have been divided into groups by a "star system." The agency's explanation of the categories says:

"Four stars signify homes of exceptional beauty and historic interest; three stars indicate some noteworthy or outstanding feature—historic, of comfort, or of cuisine; two stars indicate a typical, well-situated, comfortable country house which may lack any specially distinctive features; one star is given to those houses which are somewhat more modestly appointed or lacking any features of particular interest."

The price ranges from $33 to $54 for a double room for a night. This also includes two drinks, a three-course dinner with wine and coffee, and breakfast. Some of the hosts also arrange hunting and fishing.

"It's handled on a very non-commercial basis," said an agency spokesman. "The home owners take guests only when it is convenient for them. We might ring them up and ask if it would be all right for them to have someone to stay on such and such a night."

Payment is made in such a way that the visitors do not hand over the money themselves to their host.

A committee which includes the marquess of Hertford and lord Montague of Beaulieu recently sent letters to 50 other stately home owners recommending they go into the bed and breakfast business and also form a trade union to improve their role in the tourist trade.

As yet, no action has been taken

Lord Montague is among the more adventurous of home owners and has opened a museum of vintage cars as an extra attraction on his estate at Beaulieu.

He also tried holding a jazz festival in 1960 but it caused riotous scenes when drunken rowdies moved in. Lord Montague vowed, "there will be no more jazz festivals here."

"I'll do anything to save Woburn," he said.

The marquess of Bath caused quite a stir this year when he opened to visitors a 100-acre enclosure on his estate at Longleat where 46 lions roam free. The visitors can drive through the enclosure without leaving their auto for a fee of one pound (2.80) per vehicle.

The marquess, who hopes to attract an extra 30,000 visitors a year, says, "Of course some people are trying to put a block on the project. 'The mad marquess,' they say, and 'what is going to happen if a lion escapes?' I suppose they think village and eat 47 children."

Major Shift In Medical Education

Special to the I-J

SAN FRANCISCO — A major shift in medical education has been made at the University of California San Francisco Medical Center. A new Division of Ambulatory and Community Medicine will stress the physician's responsibility for community health and leadership.

"The new division will consider the problems of poverty, overpopulation, increasing urbanization, rural health, community mental health and aging populations in relation to the medical profession and practice of the future," according to Dr. Robert H. Crede, associate dean of the school of medicine and chairman of the new division.

The division plans to develop a training program to prepare young doctors to assume responsibilities for patient care as family physicians. It will emphasize out-of-hospital care, including family medicine and management of the patient in the home; the function of community health services; leadership by physicians in community medicine and the coordination of health care among professional groups.

Here's Way For Curbing Delinquency

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Get them directly involved.

This might be the answer to curbing delinquency and defiance among teen-agers, say University of California researchers.

The university's School of Criminology and prominent citizens of nearby Contra Costa County are cooperating on a proposed program aimed at arresting the increase of delinquency in suburban communities.

The program calls for direct involvement of teen-agers in developing and maintaining their own society.

A central feature of the university proposal is to engage youths in programs such as a tutoring sytem for the "underachiever." The tutors would be fellow students.

A university study also suggests an increase in the community's ability to handle misbehavior within its own ranks by adults' understanding of youthful culture and concurrently bringing the adolescent and adults closer.

Sea Otter Going To Win Long Fight For Survival

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The sea otter, a fascinating creature with stubby ears and long cat-whiskers whose fur was once valued above ermine and mink, is going to win his 150-year battle for survival.

"We are pleased that this very interesting and important animal is gradually increasing again," said biologist Dr. Robert T. Orr of the California Academy of Science.

The California Fish and Game Department counted 591 otters in this year's census. The figure is precarious because the count has to be made from an airplane skimming over the offshore waves along the California coast. But it is 94 higher than last year.

That's one of the interesting things about the sea otter. It's basically a land animal, cousin of the skunk and weasel —but it never comes ashore.

"No one likes to see any animal become extinct," said Orr, "and this one is particularly fascinating because of his unique way of life and the part he played in history."

The sea otter's soft, black fur was once so highly valued that a single pelt brought $2,500 on the London market. You can't buy it now. The penalty for killing an otter is a year in prison and $1,000 fine.

The hunt for this fur almost made California a Russian possession in the early 19th Century. In those days as many as 10,000 otters were killed in a year in San Francisco Bay alone.

In 1809 Ivan Alexandrovich Kuskov sailed home with 2,350 pelts. They made such a hit with the Russian court that an expedition was sent out which established a fort on the coast north of San Francisco and claimed all the waters north of the Golden Gate for Russia.

But, ironically, it was also the otter that caused the Russians to leave again. Greedy otter hunting quickly made them scarce, then impossible to find. The Russians, seeing nothing else of value in California, went home.

It was 100 years later, in 1938, that a few otters were again reported in California waters. Elated marine biologists watched as the number increased slowly —it takes eight to 10 months for one to be born. But then they started to decline again.

"We know there was some human predation," said Orr. "Some were being killed by skin divers, others by fishermen who considered them competitors for abalone." Man-eater sharks were also known to be feeding on otters because their teeth were found in some corpses.

The otter eats shellfish. The way he eats them marks him as a bright animal, said Orr. "He uses a rock from the bottom of the sea to crack open the shell. Then he eats out the meal and discards the shell."

Biologists have dubbed the otter the "clown prince of the surf" because of the way it plays in the water, swimming on its back, diving and tossing about in the kelp beds offshore.

Louis George Now In 20th Year

And today — after working together in top dance bands, in war surplus stores and eventually in a men's apparel store in the Corte Madera Center — the two are still at it.

Showing a talent for working together in music and in business, rare among partners, Louis and George — in their early 40s — are celebrating their 20th anniversary in fine men's wear and laying plans for future expansion.

Campanelli was attending Galileo High School and Malvino was attending Sacred Heart — both in San Francisco.

In the years before World War II, Campanelli — a talented piano player and musical arranger — and Malvino — a red hot clarinet and sax man — played in bands together at the Fairmont, Mark, Sir Francis Drake hotels.

Campanelli went to San Francisco State College and Malvino to University of San Francisco, graduating in business administration.

Malvino recalls that he made his first sale to a North Beacher who bought a pair of stained "long johns."

To make ends meet, the two played many "caual" dance band engagements throughout the Bay Area, and the business moved to Columbus Avenue and finally to Broadway and Grant in the heart of North Beach.

After 12 years of successful growth in San Francisco, Louis and George — like many another city dwellers — decided that the future was in Marin County.

Both men had families and a yen to establish a first rate men's apparel store in the heart of Marin's growth area.

They chose the Corte Madera Shopping Center and were among the earliest tenants there.

Malvino was soon chosen president of the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council, and both Campanelli and Malvino have served as directors of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce.

Last year, the men spent time developing their present location at 30 Corte Madera Center, with luxurious carpeting, a beautiful waterfall fountain, a red brick fireplace and fixtures in walnut.

GETTING READY FOR PUMPKIN COLORING CONTEST

Max J. Daoust and his daughter, Sally Butler, co-owners of the Harmony Music Center in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, prepare for another coloring contest—a pumpkin contest. Top winners will receive three-day expense paid trips to Disneyland. They're checking just some of the entries in last spring's Easter bunny coloring contest.

The new guide notes where "mature women are welcome," where daytime and evening studies are available and where to find specialized study in art, business, writing, dental training, photography and other pursuits.

Facilities are listed for the San Fernando Valley, Long Beach, Compton, Glendale, Pasadena, Woodland Hills, Santa Monica, Fullerton, Costa Mesa, Inglewood and in Orange County. Mexican Treasure Doomed Forever By Dam's Water

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The waters of the Grijalva River are rising inexorably today behind Latin America's largest dam—and toward an archeological treasure trove apparently doomed to be lost forever.

A last-ditch appeal by artists and archeologists to halt the rising waters and mount an Aswan Dam-style rescue operation to save the ruins of ancient Indian civilizations has apparently failed.

Two of the Malpaso Dam's three sluice gates were closed last week, and the other is scheduled to shut soon.

A force of 13 archeologists—including a group from Brigham Young University in Utah—and hundreds of men are working furiously to salvage as many relics as possible from the almost 200 sites in the area.

Some of the ruins are believed to be 3,500 years old. Dr. Eusebio Davalos, director of the National Institute of Anthropology, called the area about to be flooded the possible long-sought meeting ground of three principal cultures of pre-Colombian America — Mayan, Olmec and Zapotec.

The sites are scattered along the Grijalva River basin in the jungles of the state of Tabasco, and archeologists realized their importance only last year.

Study of the ruins could reveal how the cultures met and influenced each other, and solve puzzles that archeologists have been working on for generations, experts said.

A group of artists, archeologists and historians cabled a special petition to President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz last week, and followed it up by sending a delegation to talk to members of the President's staff.

They argued that it will take from 18 months to two years to install the hydroelectric generators in the giant dam, and thus its gates could remain open until the work is completed, giving the rescue party time to find, photograph or haul out more ruins and artifacts.

The answer, apparently, is "no."

Agustin Yanez, Secretary of Education, emerged from a conference with the president to say that all possible steps are being taken to salvage as much as possible, but made no mention of any move to reopen the dam gates.

He said the ruins are important, but the work is "primitive" and not as valuable as that found at other sites in more convenient locations. The sites were never cities, he said, but just communications outposts and way stations between different Indian cultures.

But, he said, work has been stepped up at the archeological sites. The education department — of which the Anthropology Institute is part—spent more than $40,000 on the task and borrowed laborers from the hydraulic department and the Federal Electricity Commission to help the archeologists, he said.

In only a few months, the river water backing up behind the dam will reach the sites, officials said.

Architect Dreams Of 'Sky' Cities

NEW YORK (UPI) —Noted architect Philip Johnson, who has built a glass house, a roofless church and the magnificent New York State Theater at Lincoln Center took the reins off his imagination and visualized an ideal city.

It is a dream, pie-in-the-sky city because most cities are not built—they just grow. But nothing in his dream has not already been done somewnere. It is all within the powers of modern technology.

Johnson, a New Yorker, picked a square mile of Manhattan for the site and named it "third city" because New York already has two other hearts centered around Wall St. and 42nd St.

He picked as the core of his dream city the crossroads of Park Ave. and 125th St., now the center of Harlem. It would have "walls of parking garages on three sides and the East River on the fourth.

"We make use of the services already there—the main traffic arteries (which would be widened to 12-lane streets), the subway and railroad train tracks, sewers, telephone cables, waterlines."

Then Johnson would use the underground area as a vast network of utilities, storage and for air conditioning and heating units; service areas for trucks and taxis; warehouses for stores and markets; huge lifts to unload merchandise to be carried to the city's surface.

"On the concourse above, the city belongs to the people and not to the cars. Automobiles are fine until they mash together and separate us from each other and from the natural beauties we already have."

Third City would be—except for its main crossroads—a continuous series of little squares or piazzas, housing around green courtyards, shopping centers, market squares, churches surrounded by gardens and trees, recreational centers, libraries, schools.

"No place is more than a 10-minute walk from the crossroads. For those who don't want to walk, there would be free minibuses or golfcarts buzzing around the inner streets."

Most of the apartments would be no more than seven stories tall. "People then live in contact with the streets, watch their children in their playyards below. Above seven stories you don't see into a tree: everyone should have a tree."

But on the river side of Third City, the apartments would rise on stilts to 21 stories overlooking the river. "We don't wall off the river from the people. We reroute disastrous East River Drive, let the people walk under the apartments and on banks of steps down to the river's edge. There are hundreds of little boats there—like in Venice—so people can laze the sunny days away on the water."

Johnson would save the fine old buildings already there—the cathedrals and landmark buildings—by setting them off in artificial valleys sloping to the lower level, or raising them to the concourse level.

Johnson would have different architects build the block apartments, so that no two would be alike. He would also "mix" people—the rich and the poor, the laborer and the executive, the shopkeeper and the businessman —the secretary and the artist by proving all sizes and varieties of apartments and homes, at all price ranges.

Smack in the heart of Third City Johnson has sketched four giant skyscrapers. As long as he's dreaming, they're the four highest skyscrapers in the world.

The skyscrapers would be bound together by bridges up in the air, giving the "business" of the city highways in the sky. Offices and even light industrial plants would be centered in these buildings. By their varied size they create drama; by piling the "business" of the city upward, they leave land below for walks, trees, parks, low, in-scale housing, and the various amenities of living lost from so many crowded cities.

Johnson, winner of dozens of top architectural awards, works on Third City as a hobby. He sees no reason why Americans must live in ugly, crowded, inhuman surroundings.

"Maybe waves of building new cities will come. They have come in the past: the wave of Gothic cathedrals, where whole peoples devoted their entire lives to building the eras of the pyramids.

'THIRD CITY'—Noted architect Philip Johnson goes over plans for his ideal city—a pie-in-the-sky community. (UPI Telephoto)

Chat With Friend Pays Off Real Big

As a result of the chat, he was hired by the bank. Today, more than 17 years later, he is the bank's president and the man who hired him, James W. Aston, is board chairman and chief executive officer.
